Rev. Hommersen Speaker

Speaking on the Text: "And Jesus grew in Wisdom and in Stature, and in favour with God and man," Luke 2: 51, The Rev. P. J. Hommersen asked: "How do you grow?"

The congregation was asked to keep in mind the guessing game: What is it — mineral, vegetable or animal? Modifying this game a bit, we may ask ourselves, "What am I?" "How do I grow?" "Am I a vegetable?" Rip Van Winkle slept for twenty years. He even slept through a revolution. It may be that a number of people go through life somewhat like Rip. If so, we are not much more than a vegetable. We grow. But our life does not count for much. And while we are asleep on our feet, unpleasant things may take place. We read that after the crucifixion of Jesus, many of the saints which had fallen asleep, came out of their graves. A bold commentator suggested that these saints had not been dead. They had only been going in ruts. A rut, of course, is a grave with its ends knocked out. They had been asleep on their feet. And in their complacency, they let Jesus be crucified. A more up-to-date example was suggested by Churchill's book, "While England Slept."

We may decline being like a cabbage sitting a field. We may be awake; we may grow in stature, in wisdom, skill, cunning. But animals may do the same. A monk complained to his superior that he was far too busy looking after a zoo. The superior, unaware of the existence of a zoo in the monastry, questioned the monk. He was told that this busy monk had to look after a mule, a bull, a tiger, an ape, a snarling dog, and a cat with long claws. "And all these animals are inside me," said the monk. We do sometimes speak of a cut-throat society. And we do say that life is a struggle for the survival of the fittest. It is said that the nice guy finishes always last and with the least. But the last number of years would suggest that animal behaviour may cause our bones to bleach alongside those of the dinosaurs who battled it out thousands of years ago.

We ought to reject the role of animal.

We can play the role of Child of God — a role to which we have been called. We are not satisfied with the role of animal. In "The Odyssey" we are told that the witch Circe changed some of Odysseus men into swine. Odysseus went to Circe to plead for his men. "Why," he said, "if swine they must be, did ye leave them with the minds of men?" No matter how low a man sinks, he is never content to remain an animal. He, somehow knows, that he was meant for a different role.

That role is found in the example set by our Lord, who grew in wisdom and in stature and in favour with God and men, because he was aware of the Living God. It is only as we are aware of that inescapable presence who confronts us and claims us that we can catch a glimpse of what we were meant to be, and it is only then that true growth can begin, concluded the speaker.

Local Fire Brigade Is Reorganized

Russell K. West Succeeds Reeve Graham C. Mouck As Deputy Fire Chief

At a meeting of the Stirling Volunteer Fire Brigade held Monday night, R. K. West was appointed Deputy Fire Chief to succeed Reeve G. C. Mouck. Chief R. E. Fox presided.

The local brigade strength has been increased from twelve to fifteen men. Practices will be held the first Monday of each month at 7 p.m. at which time the fire siren will be sounded.

It was pointed out that citizens turning in an alarm were apparently unaware of the Fire Call Number EX 5-2554 and were instead calling the Fire Chief or other member of the Brigade to turn in the alarm. Under the prevailing system a call to EXeter 5-2554 results in the ringing of the phones in the homes of four members of the Brigade and thus expedites the sounding of the general alarm. Citizens are urged to familiarize themselves with the fire call number.

The Fire Chief and Deputy-Chief were appointed as a committee to interview Village Council regarding some additonal equipment for the Brigade.

He made clear the contrast between living conditions in city and country and for white and black. Pictures of their motor trip through Kruger National Park provided another interesting aspect of their visit.

Introduced by Mrs. J. L. Good, Mr. and Mrs. Hadley were thanked by Mrs. C. Hatton and Mrs. Hadley was presented wtih a small gift.

Prior to the showing of the pictures, Mrs. E. Warren welcomed all and read a poem on Springtime.

West, singing "Teach Me O Lord." Kathy Morton and Beth Bastedo recited in unison Psalm 121, which they are preparing for the Festival of Sacred Praise. Mrs. H. Lack of Space Curtails Visitation At Belleville Hospital

Lack of space at the Belleville General Hospital precipitates more difficulties every day. The hospital is now very overcrowded — operating at 123 per cent. Every conceivable space is used for beds; some are even in the corridors. This precludes any space for sitting rooms or waiting rooms where patients can visit comfortably with their family or close friends. Because of this, it becomes obvious that active treatment and convalescence of patients must be done with co-operative planning between the hospital and the public.

With this in mind, it has become necessary to place a few restrictions concerning visitors. Two visitors per patient at one time is considered the best plan to adopt under the circumstances. The hours will be from 3.00 to 4.00 in the afternoon and 7.00 to 8.00 at night for adult patients and 3.00 to 4.00 for paediatrics (Children's Ward).

Visitors are definitely an asset to a patient's morale and recovery. However, until such time as more space is available to provide adequate visiting accommodation, consideration must be given to other patients in the same room and in the corridors.

This is a community as well as a hospital problem, and the co-operation of everyone concerned is absolutely necessary in order to meet the needs of each individual patient.

Easter Meeting St. Thomas W.A.

St. Thomas Anglican Church, Rawdon, held their Easter meeting at the home of Mrs. Albert Cooke on Tuesday evening with a fair attendance

The programme followed with each member contributing. A hymn and prayer by Rev. Fleming closed the meeting.

Lunch was served by the hostess and Mrs. Lorne Cooke and a social hour enjoyed.

St. John's Ladies' League

The April meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Stuart McArton. The President, Mrs. E. Carr, opened the meeting with a prayer which was a meditation on the deep foundation of our faith, "What it means to be a Christian." This was followed by a reading by Mrs. Glenn Morrow, of Hymn 580, "Thy Life Was Given For Me," which asks the question "What have I given for Thee."

Following the hymn, Mrs. Carr read an Easter prayer where we are reminded to "Let us remember when the Son of God suffered the cruelty of the Cross and His words Father forgive them for they know not what they do." The worship part of the evening was closed with a reading by Mrs. Wm. Webber, of hymn 588, "In the Cross of Light I Glory."

The roll call was answered by ten ladies, each relating a story about the most neighbourly thing that ever happened to them.

The business meeting followed with reports from the Treasurer, Calling Committee and correspondence.

A work hour followed with a continuation of the quilting by one group and sewing the Purificators by another group.

Entertainment and lunch followed and Mrs. G. Mouck thanked the hostess, Mrs. McArton, and co-hostess. Mrs. Green, for a pleasant evening.

The next meeting is to be held on May 7th at the home of Mrs. E. Carr.

Frank Buchman's Secret

by Peter Howard - Heinemann - $2.50

Here is a book that will keep you up half the night. It is biography, it is history in the making, it is hope that this old world of ours can yet be saved from disaster. You read of prime ministers and dock workers, people of every race. You get to know them and you realize the immense possibilities for effective leadership that live in all of us.

Frank Buchman was a 20th Century revolutionary with a message as old as human nature. He believed that moral re-armament for every man in every nation was the answer for the world. During the course of his lifetime he created a force which has healed hostilities, settled bitter disputes, and successfully challenged Communism on many fronts. His secret — the ability to enlist men of every class, race and nation in what he believed to be the supreme task of this century — is revealed on every page of this new book. More than half a million copies are already in print in a dozen languages.

Peter Howard, whose books have sold over 4,000,000 copies, was for eight years top political columnist on Lord Beaverbrook's EXPRESS newspapers. He was closely associated with Dr. Buchman for the last twenty years, and tells in a delightful and tremendously warm manner of his fight for the minds of men, great and small, on five continents. There was the chambermaid who cleaned his room in the final days of his life, the leader of an Asian nation who learned from him the secret of how to read the motives of the men around him, a labour leader who on his death bed told a United States senator that the change Buchman had brought into his life had saved American industry 500 million dollars.

"Frank Buchman's Secret" is recommended reading for anyone who is concerned about the fate of his nation and the state of the world today. Anyone who opens and reads the book seriously is bound to be set thinking as never before about the part every man can play in the destiny of nations. It is a fresh breath of hope for those who have lost hope — a book for men of all faiths and for men of no faith.

Most drivers know that car engines give off harmful carbon monoxide, but few people seem to appreciate exactly how dangerous it is. The Ontario Safety League points out that it takes only about five minutes for an average car, left running in a closed one-car garage, to poison the air to the point where it would cause death.

WHAT GROWS FASTER THAN WEEDS ??

That's easy . . . debts can grow faster than weeds under the right conditions!

If your tractor caused an accident on the highway . . .

you might be found partly or totally liable for the damage

If you had an accident or sickness that put you out of the work picture for a while . . .

the everyday expences would go on, there would be additional sickness expenses and you might have to pay someone to do the chores for a while. Under those conditions, debts could grow faster than weeds.

Why not find out how CIA's Farm Protection Plan could help you meet these and other emergencies.

In Memoriam

REID — In loving memory of my dear son, Clifford Gordon, who passed away May 7th, 1961.

The month of May again is here
To us the saddest month of the year;
The blow was hard, the shock severe,
To part with one we loved so dear.
Dear still as years depart
Your memory lives within our hearts
With tender love and deep regrets,
We who loved you will never forget.

—Lovingly remembered by mother Tillie Reid, sisters and brothers. 9-1p

MILK FOR PHYSICAL FITNESS

There has been considerable "to do" in the past few years over the physical fitness of the Canadian populace. Those concerned are certainly trying to encourage us to tighten up our flabby muscles as can be seen by things like the XBX exercise plan, the formation of the Sports Advisory Council and so on. However, it is up to us as individuals to keep in peak condition through exercise, normal rest and sleep and a good diet.

From the food angle, there is one food that is everyone's food and that "packs a punch" toward becoming physically fit with every glass we take. That food is milk.

Milk gives us protein for muscle and organ building; calcium and phosphorus for bone building; vitamins like riboflavin and thiamin for maintaining healthy nerves and lactose or milk sugar for energy. Child or adult, these are requisites for physical fitness.

The minimum daily quota of milk for adults is 1½ cups; for adolescents and expectant and nursing mothers it is 4 cups; for children up to 11 years it is 2½ cups. Although it is often natural for us to take our milk with meals it is sometimes more beneficial to take it between times as well for a quick pick-up drink, especially if we are very active.

As soon as milk arrives at the house, wash off the cartons or bottles under cold water, dry and place immediately in the refrigerator. Milk that is allowed to stand in the light and in a warm place is apt to lose some of its flavour and food value says the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Most people like their milk served very cold and some like it flavoured too. If you are one of the latter group, try adding 1 or 2 tablespoons of maple syrup, chocolate syrup or molasses or 2 teaspoons of honey and a dash of cinnamon to your glass of milk.

Cooking Comments

Frosty nights and warm days mean sap-flowing weather in Quebec, Ontario and New Brunswick. Since a good tree yields only 1 gallon of tasty syrup per season, it is no wonder the supply is limited, cautions the Food Department of Macdonald Institute, Guelph. To preserve the last bit of flavour, refrigerate the opened container .

When buying maple syrup be sure the label on the bottle or can is marked "Maple Sprup," This distinguishes it from artificially flavored syrups sold in similar containers.

Half of the fun of making Easter eggs is in colouring your own. Hard cook the eggs and follow the directions on the dye package for colouring, or use crayons or paints to draw funny faces on the shells. In place of the dye especially made for this purpose food colouring may be used. In this case the shells may be removed before dipping, if desired.

OF MANY THINGS

TOWARDS PEACE

It is natural, with nuclear bombs making us worry about the fate of our children, that there should spring up a great rash of organizations claiming that, if supported financially, they can help to bring about a state of lasting peace.

Some are modest in their demands; some ask for millions of dollars. One suggests it can create peace through scientific research. This is an amazing and attractive promise.

I believe some of these groups are sincere. I fear, however, that if the important agencies for peace lose support because there are so many fledglings in on the act, these groups may do harm.

In my opinion, if there is to be a great sum of money raised for the support of peace, it should go to the United Nations. That body, while imperfect, has the best opportunity to achieve something. It is operating in the red. It needs money desperately. To create a vast assortment of smaller outfits with a similar purpose would seem dangerously wasteful at this time.

The irony of it all is that the very weapon we fear is perhaps the one best deterrent to war. It is so devastating, and so generally effective against civilians and military alike, that it makes a major war sheer lunacy. Never again, while nuclear power exists, can the top brass remain in relative safety while the ranks go forward to meet the enemy. Wherever they are, they will all meet the enemy, if nuclear bombs start to fall.

Let us pray that this new fact of war will lead, at long last, to peace.

Safety is as simple as ABC — Always Be Careful.

Cancer Cells Wait For No Man

(By Anne Bowman)

She was sitting in a small office waiting for an interview with a man whose name had been unknown to her until yesterday, and about whose work she knew little. The office was very quiet, and for a few moments she closed her eyes, remembering her departure from home that evening.

Her youngest son, Keith, aged eleven, had not been feeling well. She had urged him to stay in bed. His grandmother would look after him until she got home again. But her story must be written tonight, for filing with her paper tomorrow, and she felt weary — just wondering what kind of problems might await her at five o'clock. It coulr be hard on a young mother with children who was forced to earn her living — especially a newspaper women, she thought, ruefully.

The door opened, and a giant figure stood before her, a broad smile on his face. "Sorry to have kept you waiting," he said, "but cells wait for no man."

Thinking that a curious statement, she asked him about it. "I've cancer cells in culture in the lab,' he said, "and they're behaving in a very strange way at the moment. They need to be watched constantly."

"Do you ever feel removed from everyday existence, working in a quiet laboratory," she asked, "watching such things as human and animal cells?"

"In a way, yes . . ." he replied slowly.

He told her of the National Cancer Institute Grant, provided by monies from the Canadian Cancer Society, which made his work possible. It was a relatively small amount, and he was a man of some 45 years or more. She wondered why he had not chosen some field of practicing medicine in which he would make much more money, become a success — a physician or surgeon, for instance.

She asked him what caused him to devote his days and years to cancer research, where rewards were practically nil, from a worldly point of view, and even a hope of finding the cause and cure of cancer not too near at hand.

He leaned forward on his desk. "You're a newspaper woman," he said, "you're used to the suffering of others. So is a doctor. But when it strikes home, deeply, then sometimes one has a fresh, broader outlook. One wants to offer perhaps just a little more to the world of whatever little talent one has." There was a long pause. "We had a son," he said at last. "He was our only child. He died of cancer at the age of seven. It was in his eyes to begin with. You see? . . . There are many, many children dying with cancer in Canada today."

Finally, with her research story in her brief case, she went home. Keith was up, his temperature down, and anxious for his dinner. Se went slowly into the room where he lay asleep that night, and quite suddenly the tenuous, complex, difficult-to-realize personal bridge between the abstracts of biological research and the health of one she loved, became very clear to her.

She went to the telephone. Called her paper. "That story," she told her editor, "On cancer research. I'm changing it to one on the work of the Canadian Cancer Society. Without them there would be little cancer research done in Canada, and without that — well, I don't like to think of that. I've had quite a lesson today, learning about cells. They wait for no man — or child!"

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

Furrow and Fallow By Fairbairn

Once again the farmer is being blamed for something that he has no control over — or if he isn't being blamed by everyone, at least he is the one who will suffer eventually. We had the strontium 90 scare (and probably will have it again) the tainted meat uproar, the cholesterol business (which is still not finalized) and now the poor egg producers are getting the salmonella finger pointed at them. Some nitwit even suggested producers be forced to pasteurize eggs! Can you imagine whipping pasteurized egg whites or how would one go about frying a pasteurized egg?

Anyway, why should shell eggs be pasteurized even if it were feasible? Salmonella Pullorum is one of the pullorums that we started to eradicate from flocks 40 years ago when I was a boy on an Ontario farm. By diligent research, blood testing of breeding flocks, sanitation and proper feeding it has virtually been eliminated. When a man like Dr. C. A. Morrell, head of the Food and Drug Directorate in Ottawa says: "Salmonella almost never occurs in fresh eggs" you know that to be true. Dr. Norrell is a very cautious man — in his position he has to be — and he never never makes a statement he cannot back up completely.

Everyone in the industry is aware of the fact that chances of this salmonella that has been causing the trouble from the fresh egg are very, very slight, but when somebody who should know better points toward the producer the latter generally ends up being the goat. Probably, this poor fellow who suggested that producers should pasteurize eggs really meant that the processor who breaks and powders or freezes eggs should be forced to pasteurize his product. This is exactly what the Food and Drug Directorate intends to do.

Egg producers in Ontario wholeheartedly support this step according to Tom Robson, president of the OEPA. However, he does point out that any danger to consumers through the use of fresh eggs is not only quite remote but almost non-existent. Anyway, baking or cooking would destroy all the bacteria. There is much more likelihood of salmonella being spread by personal contact, the same as measles or anything else, than there is through using fresh eggs. It might be wise to avoid using products containing dried eggs until new regulations take effect, but it is hardly fair to the egg producers if people stop using eggs because of this latest scare.

They are having enough trouble as it is without losing markets for no good reason. We hear that the breaking trade — the people we've just been talking about — are bringing in 10,000 cases of eggs from Poland. These will not be marketed as fresh eggs but will go into the production of egg melange widely used in the baking trade and the very stuff that is being blamed for this salmonella infection. We wonder whether egg producers in Poland have practically eliminated the salmonella pullorum from their flocks as Ontario — and Canadian producers have?

President Robson of the Ontario Egg Producers Association says the drastic reduction in the number of producers in Ontario and the regular recurrence of such threats to the egg price structure as this importation from Poland underlines the necessity for organized action by Ontario producers. He means one marketing plan for eggs. "Ontario producers have a reputation for a high quality product," Mr. Robson maintains, "and we must press for action that will give consumers assurance that they will receive nothing but this high quality."

TRACTOR COW-PONIES SOURCE OF DANGER

How many Ontario farmers can afford a $3,000 cow-pony? This would seem to be an expensive and unnecessary luxury, and yet hundreds of our farmers allow their school-age children to take the tractor for the cows. Rough, hilly pastures, groundhog holes and dead furrows present hazards, that these young people should not be called on to handle.

Recently, a fourteen-year-old boy lost control of such a cow-pony tractor and was almost killed, when it tipped over. Such a risk far outweighs any advantage gained over walking. Don't take a chance with your boy on a $3,000 cow-pony.

WEED OF THE WEEK SERIES

CRABGRASS, DIGITARIA SANQUINALIS

The Weed of the Week this week, isn't a weed at all says Kenneth E. Fallis of the Field Crops Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture. All that remains of last summer's crabgrass is numerous, but insignificant little seeds, hidden beneath the slippings, topsoil and fertilizer that have been added since last August.

Chances are the lawn isn't quite ready for its mowing, but now is the time to apply that ounce of prevention. Prevention—that is, of a lawn which next mid-summer may be disfigured with the broad coloured crabgrass leaves, finger like arrangements of seed heads, an adequate description of crabgrass for any lawn enthusiast. The ounce, is actually several ounces of either of two chemicals, zytron or Dacthal. These materials act on germinating grass seeds, destroying the plant while it is still in the early seedling stage. They are not effective on established plants, hence must be applied before the seed germinates. This means early in May.

This kind of crabgrass control offers several important advantages. It is not necessary to watch for the first appearance of crabgrass, when it is not too easily distinguished, then start spraying at ten day intervals in July and August. This was previously the accepted means of crabgrass control. There is less browning of grass than may be expected with potassium cyanate, or sodium arsenite. Finally, control should be more complete than is generally accomplished with post emergent treatments.

Zytron and Dactha lare marketed under trade names in Canada, and are available at garden centres for use this spring. They are applied dry, like fertilizer, and accurate application is important. Since concentration of active ingredients vary, directions on the container must be followed.

Quinte District Cattle Breeding Assoc. Recognizes Long Term Employees

Highlighting the Annual Banquet and Dance held for the Directors and staff of the Quinte District Cattle Breeding Association at Belleville on April 27th, was the recognition of several employees for long time employment.

Four men were presented with certificates of merit by the first President, Fred Hubbs, of Bloomfield, for their record of continuous employment from the date that the business was organized in June 1948 until the present time when it is to be amalgamated to become a part of the new business Eastern Breeders Incorporated.

Recognized in this way were Keith Gardner, Branch Supervisor at Port Hope; Ellis Isaac, of Harwood; Harold Motley, of Ameliasburg, and Milford Creighton, of Napanee.

Three men were recognized on completion of 10 years of service with the Association with the presentation of brief cases by Manager J. M. McLean. Keith Wood, of Orono; Ed Young and Terry Walsh, of Belleville. received this recognition.

Also recognized were Russell Osborne, of Newcastle, on completion of his two years as President of the organization. He received a travelling case presented to him by first Vice-President Aylmer Petherick. of Campbellford.

Fred Hubbs. Bloomfield, was also recognized as the only man who had been a Director of the organization continuously for 14 years.

Conifers are the leading species in the forests of Canada.

Plan Now For Ornamental Shrubs

Now is the time to start thinking about spring planting of ornamental shrubs around the home. Take time to plan your requirements and select suitable varieties before placing an order, advise horticulturists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

When planning your requirements, keep in mind where the shrubs are going to be planted and the type of soil in which they will have to grow. Some shrubs like lots of sun while others appreciate partial shade. This latter type can be put to good use in places that do not get much sun.

In this part of the country, May is a good month to plant. However, the deciding factor is the state of the soil. The frost should be out of the ground and the sail beginning to warm up.

As a check, take a handful of soil and squeeze it. If it stays sticky in your hand it is too early for planting. The soil should be in a loose, crumbly condition.

CONSERVATION NEWS

FORESTRY AT HOME AND ABROAD

A recent Department of Lands and Forests "Resource Management Report" contained an interesting article by D. H. Pimlott on resource management in Sweden. The Swedes have been managing their forests and wildlife for over a hundred years and have achieved some notable production levels.

Among the examples employed by the author to illustrate Swedish forest management, one is of particular interest to those of us working in the Tweed Forest District.

The Swedish Cellulose Company, manufacturer of lumber, paper and cellulose products, owns over seven thousand square miles of forest land in Sweden. On this area the company grows all the raw raterials required for its manufacturing plants — a total of 61 million cubic feet of wood per year.

Of the 7000 square miles approximately 75 per cent or 5250 square miles is classed as productive and the company is presently harvesting about 70 per cent of the annual growth on the area. In other words the entire annual cut of 61 million cubic feet may be considered as being grown on 3675 square miles.

On turning closer to home we see that the productive forest land in the Tweed District is 3506 square miles or only slightly less than that owned by the Swedish Cellulose Company. Our annual cut of all products in recent years has been about 19 million cubic feet or less than one-third of the Swedish harvest.

How do we explain this disparity in harvest on two area of approximately the same size.

There is no doubt that differences in tree species, climate and market conditions all play a part and make comparisons of production somewhat tenuous. There is little doubt however that the intensive forest management practised by the Swedes for so many years is bearing fruit.

For example, thinnings in young stands account for 40 per cent of the annual harvest and contribute to faster growth in the residual stand. When a mature stand is clear-cut the ground is immediately prepared by scarification or burning for the new crop. The Swedish Cellulose Company plants 24 million seedlings each year on cut-over areas.

In this era of intense competition on world markets it is important that we obtain the maximum production per acre from our most accessible forest lands. In attaining this goal we may well benefit by adapting some of the Swedish management practices to our forests.

Contractor Loses On County Building

According to J. N. Brown, Chairman of the Building Committee, the County of Hastings got a bargain in the construction of its new county administration building which was built two years ago.

Total cost of the structure, including furnishings amounted to $749,419 but the general contractor, the H. J. McFarland Construction Company, of Picton, lost $150,000 on the construction of the building.

"It is my belief that the contractor lost at least $150,000 on the construction of the building," said Reeve Brown. "The county is unable to reimburse Mr. McFarland for this loss but he fulfilled his contract without any attempt to cut down on the quality of materials or building construction."

Holgate Mill At Cannifton Burns

A century-old riverside landmark north of Belleville and one of the few remaining mills still using waterpower exclusively, the Cannifton grist mill and sawmill was destroyed by fire Saturday night.

The Cannifton mill, dating back to the pioneer days of Cannifton village, was owned by Roy Pound who purchased the business from Arthur Holgate in 1953. Loss was estimated at close to $20,000.

LEGION NOTES

The Legion-sponsored Community Fireworks Display is now well along in the planning stage. Confirmation of the fireworks shipment has been received. Last year the show consisted of 8 individual pieces of fireworks. This year a total of 210 pieces of spectacular and thrilling aerial fireworks will be presented. This means almost 3 times the programme of a year ago.

Legionnaires are conducting a canvass for funds within the Village. Everyone will be asked to contribute to the Fireworks Fund. In return for a contribution of $1.00 or more, the donor will be given a ticket which will allow he and his family to park on the Fair Grounds and enjoy an evening of family fun.

The average family must spend at least two or more dollars on fireworks. By pooling these finances, it is possible to obtain a first-class fireworks display at a very low cost per family. Another feature of such a display is the fact that all the fireworks are fired under safe, supervised conditions. When a Legion canvasser calls on you it is hoped that you will give your generous financial support to this community project.

Arrangements have also been completed to hold a band concert featuring the Stirling-Rawdon Junior Band. This will precede the fireworks display. The local Scouts and Guides will also be on hand to cater to the refreshment ends of young and old.

It is expected that all roads will lead to Stirling Fair Grounds on Monday, May 21st. Should weather intervene, the event will be postponed to Thursday, May 24th.

Once again the Legion are planning to sponsor local softball activity for a number of teams. As soon as plans have been completed there will be an announcement with full details.

Arrangements are also being completed to hold a Branch Church Parade to St. John's Anglican Church on Sunday, June 3rd. A further announcement with more details will be made next week.

THE BIBLE TODAY

The Most Reverend F. O. Coggan, Archbishop of York and President of the United Bible Societies, when addressing the World Council of Churches at New Delhi on the subject of "The Bible and the Churches' Need", said, when dealing with the section on "Facing the World's forcefully to look to our priorities lest we go to our warfare either with weapons totally inadequate for the task, or with weapons so blunted by made." the passing of the years that they fail to do the job for which they were Among the facts presented by Dr. Coggan was the statement that in all the countries of Asia, from Korea to Iran, (excluding China and Japan) there were 133,000,000 children of school age in 1960. Primary schools exist for 67 millions.

The number of Gospels distributed in the area numbered only 3,000,000. One for every 40 children.

Public School Requisition For $11,900 Tabled at Council Meeting

Five Hundred Dollars Allotted Volunteer Fire Brigade — Budget May 17th

Taxpayers of the Village will be required to contribute the sum of eleven thousand nine hundred dollars towards the cost of education at the Stirling Public School in the current year, according to the requisition tabled at the regular meeting of Council on Monday night. This amount is the same as last year, the increase in provincial grants covering the added costs in operating the school.

Reeve G. C. Mouck presided and Councillors G. B. Noble, Jas Chambers and R. Anderson were in attendance.

Delegation From Fire Brigade

Fire Chief R. E. Fox and Deputy-Chief R. K. West waited upon Council regarding matters affecting the Volunteer Fire Brigade and submitted a list of equipment needed. The question of contributing to the foam bank and providing better heating equipment for the fire hall were also discussed.

Under general business these matters were further discussed by members of Council and on motion of Noble and Chambers the sum of five hundred dollars was allotted the Brigade to purchase a supply of foam and equipment for its application along with other sundry items. The need for two Scott Air Packs for the firemen was also under discussion but was left in abeyance until the setting of the budget.

Correspondence tabled by Clerk W. L. Pollock included a letter from the Department of Highways stating the Church St. property would not be for sale until September next; Ontario Municipal Board, re the Planning Act; Humpage, Taylor & MacDonald, Auditors; County Clerk, with County Directory; Ontario Municipal Association, announcing a convention in Timmins; Dept. of Municipal Affairs, re approval of the Rodgers sub-Division; Lake Ontario Development Association, re zone meeting; D. M. Cass, re sub-Division deed; and Stirling Recreation Committee, including a copy of the budget for the current year.

A communication from the Canadian National Railways stated the company's willingness to pay frontage tax on 135 feet on North Street.

To Set Budget

Humpage, Taylor & MacDonald, Village Auditors, also wrote announcing that they would meet with Council on May 17th to discuss the Auditor's Report and set the budget for the current year. The Clerk was instructed to confirm the date.

The report of Police Chief D. Ketcheson was also tabled and accepted by Council.

The removal of the old vault at the Cemetery will be undertaken at once and Riverside Construction will be contacted by the Cemetery Committee regarding finishing work around the new chapel before it can be painted. H. E. Cooke was engaged to do some levelling work around the building to facilitate the necessary landscaping.

Council also decided to ask for tenders for supplying fuel and stove oil to the various municipal buildings.

-- NOTICE --

ORAL POLIO VACCINE

This vaccine is to be administered to the family unit within a two-day period, MAY 29th and 30th, 1962. It is necessary for the whole family to take the vaccine in order to obtain the best and desired results.

Public and High School students will be done at the schools.

Pre-school and all other adults will be done at the Community Hall, Stirling, on May 30th, in the afternoon and evening. Infants under the age of three months are fed as are other members of the family.

Previous immunizations by injection (Salk) or lack of it does not eliminate the need for this oral vaccine. The Department of Health of Ontario stress that this immunization treatment involves the whole family, not individuals. Sabin vaccine (Oral) is not a replacement for Salk vaccine (injection) but the two vaccines complement each other.

No harmful effects have ever been reported. The only people that should not take the vaccine are:

1. Those acutely ill.
2. Those with neurological diseases such as multiple sclerosis.
3. Those taking antileukemic drugs or cortisone like drugs.
4. Those who have had mouth surgery or dental extractions in the previous two weeks.
5. Those who propose mouth surgery or dental extractions in the succeeding two weeks.

Again it is to be stressed that the whole family unit take this vaccine for maximum and best results.

Liberal Candidate Opens Headquarters

Mr. Thomas M. Neal, Liberal candidate for Hastings-Frontenac, opened on Monday his campaign headquarters in the Savigny Building, Northbrook. Mr. Neal was nominated Liberal candidate at Marmora on January 20th, 1962, and has already made personal visits to almost all Townships in the riding.

The federal riding of Hastings-Frontenac is particularly large, comprising all northern portions of Hastings, Lennox and Addington and Frontenac Counties and extending south to Stirling, Sydenham and Newburgh.

Tommy is a native of Harlowe and spent his early life there. He volunteered for service in 1943 and spent two years overseas in the R.C.A.F. Since discharge from the service in 1946 he has been active in Branch 328 of the Royal Canadian Legion, Northbrook, and was one of the early presidents of that organization.

His occupation after the war was selling, both retail and wholesale, and he knows the problems of the country people and small businessmen.

Last fall he sold his successful general store in Harlowe to devote his full time to the Liberal cause.

Museum Expands Lumbering Display

Thanks to the Houston Lumber Co., of Belleville, the Hastings County Museum has been able to expand its lumbering display.

Mr. R. E. Houston of the Houston Company recently turned over to the museum relics of the company dating back to its founding at Tweed in 1886 by the late R. F. Houston.

A picture of the founder of the Company, some of the wood planes used by him, and a timber marker used to place the company's mark on the logs, are currently on display.

Also turned over to the museum was an early account book of the company.

The lumbering display has attracted much favourable comment from people visiting from rural areas especially.

Also displayed are relics of the 1885 Northwest Rebellion, chiefly donated by Mrs. W. M. Barlow, of Belleville; a display or recent acquisitions; and fine furniture, silver, jewelry, etc from the City of Belleville's Salaman Collection.

Until the middle of June, the museum is open Saturday and Sunday afternoons from 2 to 5. Adult admission fee is 25 cents and accompanied children are admitted free.

Mother's Day Programme at Stirling W.I.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. M. Ayrhart, John St., opened her home to the officers and members of Stirling Women's Institute for their May meeting.

President, Mrs. B. Reid, welcomed all and opened the meeting with the Ode, Mary Stewart Collect and the Lord's Prayer. Roll call, "a verse on Mother," was answered by eleven members.

Correspondence included an invitation to the 4-H Homemaking Achievement Day being held in the Stirling Community Hall on June 2nd; also a senior course of Home Economics Service with the Branch choosing "The Third Meal" and "Hints for the Home Nurse; an account for the membership of $3.00 to the Women's Auxiliary for the Hastings County Home and $1.00 for the District Director from this Women's Institute's membership to the Hastings County Historical Society. A "thank you" note was received from West Hastings District President, Mrs. P. D. MacMullen, of Mount Pleasant, for a gift received on the occasion of her official visit.

Delegates to attend the District Annual at Sidney Baptist Church on June 1st will be Mrs. B. Reid, Mrs. R. Williams, Mrs. Frank Smith and Pennies for Friendship Secretary, Mrs. C. Gay.

Mrs. W. C. West will be in charge of the arranging for the summer holiday and will give a report on the same at the June meeting.

In Mrs. R. Williams report of the District Executive meeting held in Belleville, she gave much credit to Mrs. P. D. MacMullen for her efficiency in conducting the important business meeting.

A new way of making money was explained by Mrs. L. Rodgers and at this meeting the idea was accepted as "Pie Plate Yearly Holidays." After this meeting all will be in readiness to contribute to the Holiday Way.

Owing to an oversight at the Annual Meeting the office of Property Committee was overlooked. Mrs. B. Reid was elected to this office.

A programme of the June meeting was distributed to everyone by the secretary. The place, Mrs. Frank Smith's home; time, June 6th; roll call, one minute talk by each on the culture of their favourite flower — or 5c fine; topic, "Horticulture," by Mrs. B. Reid; "Blindfolded Potato Peeling Contest," committee Mrs. W. C. West and Mrs. W. H. Cooke.

On display was the lovely Bible which will be awarded annually by the Stirling Women's Institute to the girl or boy who wins the Bible reading at the Festival of Sacred Praise being held at St. Paul's United Church. The singing of the Queen closed the business meeting.

Talk on Care of Easter Lilies

A very attractive programme was enjoyed.

A talk on "The Care of Easter Lilies" was given by Mrs. L. Bronson. When their bloom is finished, stop watering it and keep the plant in the pot until the end of May. When all dangers of frost is past, plant the lily in the garden. There is a seventy per cent chance it will repeat its bloom in August. If however, the odds are against it, do not be disappointed, you have a bulb in your garden growing and developing into a normal production for next year's bloom.

The newest idea for rooting geranium slips is to split the root end and insert an oat seed. This will germinate very quickly in luke-warm water temperature.

A slice of lemon applied to a burn proves a splendid remedy and at almost anytime lemons are at hand in our kitchens.

Mother's Day

Mrs. W. C. West gave a reading entitled "God's Plan for Mothers." In part she said when we place motherhood on a pedestal on Mother's Day, let us ponder on the perfect motherhood, like the mother of our Lord. Good mothers live in the shadow of the cross — the greatest opportunity ever afforded mankind to a better world is placed in the hands of womanhood.

"A Mother's Prayer" was read by Mrs. F. Smith. A mother, like other human beings, has only one heart but her's is big enough to hold the whole world.

In her memory we say:

"God gave me a wonderful mother
Her memory will never grow old,
He fashioned her smile out of sunshine,
He moulded her heart of pure gold,
He needed a new star in Heaven
A beautiful light to shine,
So out of this old world of sorrow
He chose that dear Mother of mine."

Mrs. E. Foster gave a lovely reading pertaining to "Mother's Ways."

As Victoria Day is May 24th, this too held importance on this program. "Mother Canada" was read by Mrs. B. Reid. We Canadians are so greatly blessed with our Canadian springs, tree budding, tulips, May flowers, dogwood blossoms, a garden paradise, unlimited beauty. This is my home, my native land.

Mrs. E. Luery explained the origin and the birth of Empire Day. Mrs. Clementine Fessenden, of Ancaster, Ontario, was the founder of Empire Day in 1898. By letter Queen Victoria expressed deep interest and appreciation to Mrs. Fessenden for this work in the year 1926. On May 27th a bronze tablet was placed on the wall of the St. John's Anglican Church at Ancaster, Ont.

A delicious lunch was served and enjoyed during the social hour.

Mrs. E. Foster moved a vote of thanks to the hostess, Mrs. Aryhart, and programme and lunch committee, Mrs. F. Smith and Mrs. L. Bronson for the enjoyable afternoon.

"SHORTS" ABOUT FRESH ASPARAGUS

When buying fresh asparagus look for bright green stalks with tightly closed tips. Very thin, wilted or crooked stalks are likely to be tough or stringy. Spreading tips indicate overmaturity. If possible, buy bunches having stalks of uniform size. One pound of asparagus, as purchased, will give 3 to 4 cooked servings. One and a half to two pounds will serve 6 persons. Fresh asparagus should be used the day it is purchased to benefit from its good flavour and crisp-like texture. If it must be kept for a day or two, store in refrigerator.

o0OO0o

Fresh asparagus should be free of all traces of grit before it is canned, frozen or cooked for eating. To prepare, break off stalk as far down as it snaps easily. The stalk breaks with a snap where the woodiness begins. Remove any loose scales on stalk with a pointed knife. Wash asparagus thoroughly using a soft brush to remove all sand. Leave whole or cut in half.

o0OO0o

Fresh asparagus that is overcooked is difficult to serve and has a poor colour. The Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, recommends that fresh asparagus be cooked until lower portion of stalk is just tender. That is, for small stalks ¼ to ½ inch in diameter — 6 to 10 minutes; for medium stalks ½ to ¾ inch in diameter — 7 to 11 minutes; and for large stalks ¾ to 1 inch in diameter — 8 to 12 minutes.

To cook long stalks of asparagus, tie in 3 to 4 loose bundles. Place, tips up, in top of double boiler. Sprinkle salt around asparagus but not on tips, allowing ¾ teaspoon for 6 servings. Add boiling water until half way up stalks. Insert bottom of double boiler over the top. Bring water back to a boil, reduce heat and boil gently until stalks are just fork tender, 6 to 12 minutes, depending on size of stalks.

o0OO0o

To season fresh asparagus with a gourmet's touch, combine ¼ cup of the cooking liquid with 3 to 4 tablespoons butter. Add ⅛ to ¾ teaspoon of celery seed or thyme OR ¼ to ½ teaspoon of marjoram, oregano, paprika, or rosemary. Simmer uncovered for 5 minutes and pour over cooked asparagus. Serve immediately.

o0OO0o

Serve a tasty butter sauce over fresh asparagus. To make: Melt 3 to 4 tablespoons butter, add 1½ to 2 teaspoons lemon juice OR ½ to ¾ teaspoon prepared mustard OR ¼ to ½ teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce. Blend well and pour over cooked asparagus.

o0OO0o

Plain white sauce or a white sauce with chopped hard cooked eggs or cheese added, goes well with fresh asparagus. And, so do sauces made from condensed celery, mushroom or chicken soups.

o0OO0o

Young tender stalks of fresh asparagus freeze well. To prepare, snap off the tough butts and remove scales. Wash carefully to remove all traces of sand. If necessary, cut stalks in uniform lengths to fit container. Blanch medium stalks in boiling water for 3 minutes, large stalks for 4 minutes. Chill quickly in very cold water, preferably ice water. Drain well. Pack dry in freezer containers. Label container with name and date. Freeze immediately.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

ELECTION OPPORTUNITIES

A good time to let politicians know what you want and don't want is now, when they are soliciting your votes. This is the time to put them right on the spot and get from them some clear statements of how they stand on various issues.

For my part, candidates who solicit my support will have to assure me that they will be more prudent with the dollars they collect. I have no desire to be bribed with my own money; I will vote for the candidate who promises to stop spending money as if it were going out of style.

You may have different ideas. I know there are some voters who think that when taxes are raised they are not hurt personally. They even approve of the notion that corporations should be soaked. It is a naive position to hold, because if the corporations are soaked they must raise their prices and who do you suppose pays those increased prices? However, those who are naive enough to want the corporations soaked must get in their best digs during the election campaign.

Another thing I am going to ask of the candidates in my constituency is a statement one way or another on widows' pensions. I go along with the National Council of Women in their argument that the present tax on widows' pensions is grossly unfair and ought to be dropped or changed. Indeed, I think Canada's entire tax structure should be changed to lower the tax rates, so that we can compete in price with other countries, and I am going to ask candidates how they feel about it and what they will do about it if elected.

Elections can be boring, but they are, in my opinion, an education. You can have a lot of fun and learn a lot by taking part, attending the meetings, asking questions. This I propose to do. I think the day when politics were discussed around the pot-bellied stove or over the cracker barrel in the country stores were good days, and that the custom ought to be revived. Next time you meet a neighbour, involve him in a political argument. You might not convince him, but you are almost certain to come out of the discussion somewhat wiser, and he is likely to learn a little from you. That's what makes democracy click.

Little Messengers

The first meeting of the Little Messengers of Mount Pleasant was held at the Church Hall under the direction of the leader, Mrs. Garth Joslin and her assistants, Mrs. James Hoard and Mrs. Clarence Scott.

The officers are: President, Brenda Campbell; Vice-President, Carolyn Merrick; Secretary, Larry Jeffs; Treasurer, Jim Scott; Pianists, Jean Jeffs and Donna Knight.

The various plans were discussed for carrying on the meetings in the future. All enjoyed a sing-song of hymns and also new songs which have been suggested for this course of study.

Mrs. Joslin outlined the first chapter of "Junior Round Up," based on "Children of Canada." This study is to help juniors gain some idea of the vastness of Canada and of the many different types of communities served by the church.

Mrs. James Hoard gave the first chapter of "Timmy's Team" to the primary children.

The worship service opened with quiet music by Jean Jeffs. Brenda Campbell gave the call to worship based on the theme, "The Lord Reigns, Let the Earth Rejoice." All sang "We Love the House of Prayer." Judy McAdam contributed a vocal solo. Brenda Williams read the meditation. Kenneth Couch and Randy Smith gathered the offering which was dedicated with a new hymn designated for the occasion. Janet Scott gave a solo and the meeting closed with prayer by Gordon Hoard.

Fireworks -- Fun or Felony?

Those who have never heard of an accident involving fireworks may think the national sport of igniting explosives in honour of Queen Victoria's birthday is good, clean, harmless fun.

On the other hand, anyone who has read about the dozen or so children who lost their eyesight last year, the scores of fires caused by pranksters throwing firecrackers into doorways and windows, or the 4-year-old who died of burns when firecracker powder saturated his clothing, you may be wondering about the word "harmless." So is the Ontario Safety League.

Aside from the annual sacrifice of human flesh caused by allowing these so-called toys to be sold to children, the League says property damage each year over the May 24th week-end runs into many thousands of dollars. One such fire in London, Ont., last year resulted when children stuffed fireirackers around a railing-shed door and lighted them. Although damage was estimated at $250,000, it could have been far worse, for flames came within inches of setting off a box car loaded with dynamite.

It's time we faced the fact that by any other name, fireworks are still explosives, and we are allowing children to play with them as though they were toys. Many Ontario communities have already passed municipal legislation restricting their sale to varying degrees, but it is still simple for a child living in a restricted sale neighbourhood to buy firecrackers in a nearby town where no bylaw exists.

Some community Fire Departments, Safety Councils and service organizations deserve credit for taking the initiative and arranging public fireworks displays, with firefighting equipment at hand. Not only are such displays safer than the "do-it-yourself" kind, they usually provide more dazzling types of fireworks than the average child could buy, and therefore a more spectacular entertainment.

Let's not be so blinded to danger by sentimental memories of our childhood freedom with fireworks, that we permit widespread injury and death in the name of fun. The potential destructive power of these "toys" has been proved many times over. Children are simply not capable of handling fireworks safely. If eyes, limbs, life and property are the price of a few thrills on the holiday week-end, we commit a felony in continuing to pay that price.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

Furrow and Fallow By Fairbairn

It looks as though the rocky road to love has ditched the courtship caravan carrying the Ontario Farmers' Union executive and the Ontario Federation of Agriculture top brass. While resolutions calling for an overall farm organization in Ontario — and Canada — have been passed by many groups in both the union and the federation over many years, nothing much happened. In the past year the OFU and the OFA have been sitting down together and talking, and some people were hopeful that steps toward amalgamation could be taken.

However, a recent statement by the OFU executive and a lengthy resolution passed at the members' meeting of the OFA last week, constitute more than a rift in a beautiful friendship. When one side (the OFU) says: "The OFU has no time for any further fraternizing until the federation indicates a definite desire to change the structure of their organization," while the federation claims: "The OFU has misrepresented the facts regarding the structure of the OFA," it sounds like more than a lovers' spat. Of course, the cynics might say it sounds more like a couple of youngsters in the old, "You are so — I am not" routine.

Whichever way you look at it, both sides sound mad and this does not hold out hope for building one farm organization. The union claims that the majojrity rule in the federation comes from commercial type organizations, although it is not clear to us who is getting the finger — co-operatives, marketing boards, commodity groups or all of them. At another point the union deplores "empire building commodity groups" and at this point they won't find too much difference of opinion in many sections of the federation. President Bill Tilden warned egg producers at their annual meeting recently against the dangers in individual groups building their structure at the expense of a united farm organization.

The OFU statement seems very blunt — we're not interested in playing ball with the OFA until they change their ways. The OFA, on the other hand, leaves the door open by saying it "regrets that the OFU, according to press releases, is not interested in joining with the OFA in one general farm organization in Ontario" and later maintaining it has been quite sincere in attempting to work towards one organization.

This has something of the aroma of international negotiations — as they are called. One side slamming the door with a bang — which doesn't seem to mean they won't open it again, by the way — and the other couching its feelings in more diplomatic terms that leave the door ajar. What both sides really mean is — we'll agree with you anytime on our terms.

The OFU is basically a union — a dues-paying organization — and shows no desire to change. In fact, it has always maintained only a national, direct membership organization can truly represent Canadian farmers. However, the union has only been able to persuade about 3,000 Ontario farmers to join and pay dues. Farmers in this province seem reluctant to accept the union side. The OFA claims a membership of over 100,000 farmers through its county and township federations, commodity groups (26), co-operatives (5) and educational organizations.

While the federation organization is not perfect — as most members realize — it does seem to have more support than the union. After a fairly heated discussion last week, OFA members resolved to continue to try to develop one over-all farm organization in Ontario.

WEED OF THE WEEK SERIES

PURSLANE — POTHERB TO GARDEN PEST

Purslane, sometimes called Portulaca or Pursley, has been grown as a potherb in Europe for centuries.. It is a native of India where it was used for food more than 2,000 years ago. During colonial times, it spread to North and South Amercia where it is now generally considered a weed. One botanist described it as — "a fat, ground-clinging, spreading, greasy thing, and the most propagatious plant I know."

According to the Field Crops Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Purslane is easily recognized by its fleshy, red stems and wedge-shaped leaves. The flowers are bright yellow, about one-quarter inch across, and open only for a few hours each morning.

Purslane is often a problem in beds of shrubbery, nursery stock, onions and other crops which do not provide dense shade. It is often missed by early cultivation because the seeds do not germinate until the soil warms up in the late spring. Hoed plants should be destroyed because they will form seeds after they are pulled from the ground.

A chemical weed killer called Chloro IPC gives good control of Purslane and other annual weeds in onions if applied as a spray when the weed seeds are germinating. The spray must be directed at the base of the onion plants to avoid injuring the leaves. A fault of Chloro IPC is that in cool, moist weather some onion plants may be killed, with a resultant loss in yield. In addition, Chloro IPC must not be used in bunching onions. Follow the manufacturer's directions carefully.

A 5 per cent granular type of Chloro IPC controls germinating Purslane and other annual weeds when spread evenly over stablished beds of woody nursery stock or shrubbery after a cultivation, when the soil is moist and warm. Chloro IPC should not be used on tree fruit nursery stock, and some other types may be injured by this chemical, so follow the manufacturer's directions carefully.

For further information, consult Ontario Department of Agriculture Publication 75 — "Guide to Chemical Weed Control," available from your local Agricultural Representative.

Stirling 4-H Calf Club

The May meeting of the Stirling 4-H Calf Club was held at the farm of Lorne Hagerman, Harold R.R. 1, on Wednesday, May 2nd at 8 p.m.

The meeting was opened and a new secretary was chosen, Anne Sutherland. Following the roll call it was decided that the next meeting would be held at the farm of Mr. Ken Mumby.

Doug Detlor gave pointers on the characteristics a good dairy cow should have. The members judged some of the cows.

Paul McKeown, Ron Hamilton and Doug Detlor informed the members on the feeding and care of the dairy heifer. Paul McKeown and Doug Detlor placed the different classes. Lorne Hagerman commented on the placings and club work.

The meeting was adjourned and lunch served.

CONSERVATION NEWS

FOREST PROTECTION

To date we have had 30 forest fires in this district. During the past week the burning index ranged from high to extreme and 17 fires occurred during the period. In all, about 400 acres were burned and half of this area was covered by one fire of 200 acres in Griffith Township north of Denbigh, which burned in pine slash and a young pine plantation. Apparently this fire was caused by careless fishermen discarding burning smoking material. It is most unfortunate when a fishing trip such as this ends in disaster and a green forest turned into a blackened area of dead trees.

Fishermen and campers are now using the woods in large numbers and they are asked to do their share to guard against forest fires. All fires to date were caused by some one who thoughtlessly tossed away a lighted cigarette, failed to extinguish a camp fire or committed some similar act, while visiting forested areas.

Many forest fires can be prevented by practising a few simple safety rules while out in the woods:

Smoke hand rolled cigarettes.
Use safety lighters.
Use thermos bottles.
Stop and sit down to smoke.

While driving — do not throw out burning smoking materials carelessly — use your car ash tray.

Help Prevent Forest Fires.

Mrs. K. Tompkins Hostess To U.C.W. At Wellman's

Mrs. Kenneth Tompkins was hostess to the Wellman's United Church Women on Tuesday, May 1st. There was a good attendance consisting of 17 ladies and 3 children.

Mrs. John Carlisle, President, opened the meeting with a few brief comments accenting "Praise the Lord," followed by the Theme hymn.

Mrs. Douglas Clancy was in charge of the devotional portion of the programme, choosing the theme "What is the Task of the Church." The hymn "In Christ There is No East or West," was sung, after which Mrs. Kenneth Tompkins read the 28th chapter of Matthew. Mrs. Clancy commented on what the tasks of the Church are. A prayer was repeated in the form of a litany Mrs. Gerald Clancy sang "My Task." Mrs. D. Clancy continued her comments with regard to the task of the Church pertaining to every situation and closed with prayer. The hymn "More Love to Thee, O Christ," was sung.

The minutes read by Mrs. Kenneth Tompkins, Secretary, were approved. The correspondence dealing with an The correspondence dealing with an invitaton to be with the Carmel ladies to celebrate their 50th anniversary was read. Mrs. Carlisle announced the Regional Rally to be held May 30th.

The roll call was responded to by a verse from the Bible containing the word "Beauty." Master Harry Clancy took up the collection which was dedicated by Mrs. Carlisle.

Mrs. Burton White gave a reading, "Going Forth to Sow," followed by a vocal solo, "Just For Today," by Mrs. Frederick Beckett. Mrs. Omar Dracup gave a reading "Spring Cleaning."

Mrs. Clifford Clancy gave the chapter from the study book dealing with the rural churches in connection with the decreasing rural population . It seems there are more people continually leaving the rural districts to take up residence in the suburban areas. This leaves fewer families to keep up the rural churches. Some places in a radius of 5 miles you will find perhaps 6 churches. If some of the churches would amalgamate, the up-keep would be lessened according to the population and it would lessen the shortage of ministers which seems to be the situation of today. In past years when there were transportation difficulties the church had to be closer to the people than today with all the quick means of transportation we have. The number of rural churches must be lessened to keep each church strong enough. The prediction is that by 1980, 20 per cent of the people will be rural and 80 per cent suburban. In consideration of all these changes, the minister is challenged to help the hard working people of the rural areas. However, it is felt that the grouping of congregations of rural churches, with less churches, would solve many problems.

Mrs. Carlisle read an article "Youth and Attendance Headache." This told how the youth of today seem to lose track of the church, making a large attendance drop.

Mrs. Craig Watson gave a piano solo, "Second Regiment." Mrs. Carlisle thanked the hostess and those taking any part in the meeting, then closed with the benediction.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants, while all enjoyed a social half hour.

LEGION NOTES

All members are advised that the Legion Church Parade, originally scheduled for Sunday, June 3rd, has been advanced one week. The branch will parade to St. John's Anglican Church on unday, May 27th for ser-
Church on Sunday, May 27th for ser-
It is hoped that all comrades will fall in for this parade. Dress for the day will be berets and medals. Fall in at the Community Hall Sunday, May 27th at 10.45 a.m.

The branch executive will meet at the Legion Hall next Tuesday, May 15th to finalize plans for the Church Parade on May 27th and for the Annual Fireworks Display on Monday, May 21st.

Response to the Legion canvass for funds to finance the Victoria Day Fireworks Display has been most generous. Several streets in town have not yet been covered by the canvassers, however, this will be done within the next week. Rural residents are asked to leave their donations either with George Noble or Doug Patterson.

Again this year, there will be ample parking at the Fair Grounds. Preceding the fireworks, the Stirling-Rawdon Junior Band will present a band concert which will commence at about 7.45 p.m.

By pooling their finances, a community can stage a well-organized, high class display of fireworks. The Legion has undertaken to make this possible. Every person donating $1.00 or more to the fund will receive a ticket which entitles him to enter the grounds with their car and park in a safe place which will enable them to see the display to the best advantage.

Once again the Legion seeks the co-operation of the public in presenting a community project. Parents of children can assist in warning their youngsters of the danger involved in fireworks. The display will be fired from a safe distance and all persons not engaged in the actual firing should keep their distance.

The Legion has noted the recent interest in the formation of a Stirling Curling Association, and the proposal to look into the erection of a curling arena with artificial ice. While no official discussion has been held by the branch, there are many members who have expressed the hope that a building might be planned in such a way that the same artificial ice plant might also service an arena in years to come. While an artificial ice arena may seem a remote possibility at this time, good planning now could very well pay off at a later date. The Legion would be happy to send representatives to any meeting which might be held in this connection.

Members are again asked to note the change in date for the Branch Church Parade. All comrades to fall in at the Community Hall, 10.45 a.m., Sunday, May 27th.

Fireworks Display Monday Night

Final Plans For Big Event Now Complete — Junior Band Will Be Present

Next Monday, May 21st, the Stirling Legion will present its annual community fireworks display at the Stirling Fair Grounds. Prior to the display, the Stirling-Rawdon Junior Band, under bandmaster Maurice Bell, will present a musical program commencing at about 7.45 p.m. As soon as darkness permits, the fireworks display will commence.

This year the Legion has gone all out to secure a most interesting and thrilling fireworks display. The program contains 215 pieces of fireworks as compared to 85 last year.

In order to finance this project, the Legion is appealing to the public for a donation of at least $1.00 per family. Legion members will supervise parking on the Fair Grounds in the best possible area from which the display may be watched. Persons donating to the fund are given a ticket which permits them to enter and park. Anyone who has not yet made a donation may leave same with any Legion member or they may purchase their ticket at the gate on Monday evening.

The Legion appeals to parents for their co-operation in warning all children of the danger involved in fireworks of any description. The display is made up of powerful explosives and all children are asked to keep at a safe distance.

Motorists are also urged to give their co-operation in making this a safe, enjoyable event for all concerned. With a great deal of traffic the Legion expresses the hope that extra care and courtesy will be shown.

Native of Rawdon Major J. Bygott

(Campbellford Herald)

Major John Montgomery Bygott, of Campbellford, died suddenly Sunday night, having been in Campbellford Memorial Hospital for about a week. Prominent in all phases of community life, his death was mourned by the entire population.

Born in Rawdon Township, the son of the date James Wilson Bygott and Mary Montgomery, he attended school in Stirling and as a youth assisted at the CNR station in the village. He followed this vocation and prior to World War I was employed as station agent at Lakefield. He enlisted with the 93rd Battalion which he commanded, having the rank of Captain. Overseas he attained the rank of Major. He was with the Royal Canadian Engineers and also was on loan to the Railroad Division of the Imperial Army. Twice mentioned in despatches, he returned to Canada in 1919 to the Canadian National Railway in Campbellford. In 1920 the family came here and set up their home on what is now Bridge Street West, making it their permanent residence.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. J. E. H. Free (Helen), of Agincourt, and Mrs. W. A. Nelson (Isobel), of West Hill; one son, Jack, of Scarborough, and five grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at Christ Church Wednesday afternoon by Rev. Owen G. Barrow.

Afternoon Unit 3 St. Paul's U.C.W.

The Afternoon Unit Three of St. Paul's United Church Women met on Tuesday afternoon, May 8th, with Mrs. R. A. Patterson in the chair. After welcoming several new members, the singing of a hymn and prayer, the leader read a verse entitled, "The Way to Happiness." The programme was then turned over to Mrs. V. Richardson. The Scripture from 1 Chron. chapter 29 and verses ten to thirteen, was read by Mrs. J. Hough, followed by a meditation read by Mrs. Alex Bush and prayer by Mrs. J. B. Thompson.

Declining Morals was the subject of a panel discussion and Mrs. Richardson was supported by Mrs. Elwood Johnson on Education; Mrs. Patterson, Industry, Business and Professional, and Mrs. W. H. Donnan, on Science, Agricultural Science in particular. Scientists are admitting that they have not the answers to all of humanity's problems and are urging men to get back to God. Mrs. Richardson then called for opinions from the audience and five or six ladies took part in a discussion.

This programme received much favourable comment and showed that much thought and care had gone into its preparation. At its conclusion it was agreed that many things are wrong but all are urged to live in a manner that if everyone lived just as you do it would be a better world in which to live.

A trio of girls gave their number for the coming festival, which was enjoyed by all.

Thanks for this inspirational afternoon was voiced by Mrs. P. Utman.

Never gamble your life on one jack, urges the Ontario Safety League. Use blocks if you have to work under the car with the wheels off. No jack is infallible, and it is easy for a car to slip off a hand-jack, even in a garage. Never crawl under a car without visualizing what would happen if the jack gave way.

CHILDREN AVAILABLE FOR ADOPTION

Many suitable older and handicapped children are available for adoption. Happily married couples who are interested in any of the boys and girls below should apply to the Minister of Public Welfare, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

ONTARIO

The majority of Children's Aid Societies are making a determined effort to provide permanent homes for some of their wards. Every attention will be given to requests for these or other children.

RODNEY is a healthy affectionate 3 year old Protestant boy of English origin. He is of average intelligence, has a stocky build with blue eyes and blond hair. Rodney has a hair lip which has received treatment. A Protestant home is desired where parents will be contented with the knowledge that surgical treatment and speech therapy will be necessary in the future. Rodney wants to be with his adopting parents when facing up to this ordeal.

DENNIS is 2 years old and his racial origin is Danish and Negro. He is a sturdy well developed baby with blue eyes, blond hair, light brown complexion and negroid features. He responds well and is a placid and happy baby. Dennis would be happy with white or coloured Protestant parents.

JEANETTE is a healthy 10 year old Protestant girl of Ukrainian and English origin. She is of slight physique with brown eyes and black hair. Jeanette is looking for warm, understanding Protestant parents who will not expect too much from her academically.

EDGAR is an active 7 year old Roman Catholic boy of French and English origin and is bilingual. He has an average physique with blue eyes and blond hair. This well-mannered, agreeable lad has high average intelligence and is in excellent health. Edgar needs a home where he could get emotional stimulation and be guided according to his ability.

WENDALL & WARREN are Protestant half-brothers who have never been separated and wish to remain together. Wendall is a well-built 2½ year old with blue eyes, light brown hair, turned up nose and fair complexion—a happy, friendly and mischievous wee laddie of Scottish and English descent. Warren is a likeable pleasing 4½ year old who quickly comprehends a situation, accepts discipline and is anxious to please. He is talkative, inquisitive and protective of Wendall. His ancestry is French-Canadian and English. Warren had club feet, but has received good correction. These boys will be happiest with Protestant parents who will have real pleasure bringing up two sons.

LISA is a sweet natured 10 year old Roman Catholic girl of French Canadian and Indian background. This pretty girl has a sturdy physique with brown eyes and dark brown hair. Lisa is in good health and would be a charming daughter for older Roman Catholic parents.

LANNY is a born leader. He is a handsome boy, well mannered and doing excellent work at school. Lanny is interested in music and takes piano lessons. He gets along well with boys his own age and is a normal Protestant lad of 11 years and of North American Indian heritage. Older Protestant parents could open up the future for this boy by welcoming him into their lives and accepting him as their son.

KAY has not had any real childhood in her 13 years of life due to great family responsibility. She has fair complexion, brown eyes and light brown hair. Kay is healthy, has a placid disposition but speaks rapidly and has a slight but attractive stammer. This girl is behind in school but is now progressing well. Kay is an Anglo-Saxon Protestant in need of parents with patience and understanding who will accept her poor past school achievement and love and encourage her—giving her some fun and joy which she has yet to experience.

MICHAEL is a dear wee Catholic boy of 3 with an appealing manner and extremely bright for his age. He has light brown hair and grey attractively slanted eyes which are his heritage from his grandfather, who is partly Chinese. Warm understanding Catholic parents are needed for this bright attractive boy.

SANDY is a pretty 8 year old Roman Catholic Anglo-Saxon girl with fair curly hair and blue eyes. This little girl is a bright alert child with above average intelligence and is artistically gifted. Sandy needs a Roman Catholic home where she will be stimulated and accepted. Her parents should be capable of keeping up with this determined child who has a strong personality and much charm, as well as certain definite emotional and psychological needs. Sandy likes fun and people but needs discipline and warm understanding in a family with older children.

DEREK needs a Dad, like all 11 year olds. He also needs the guidance and sureness of parents' love and a permanent place in a family. Derek is of Polish-English parentage and has the fair colouring you would expect. He is small but in excellent health. You would find him shy on first meeting but not once he got to know you. Derek is repeating Grade IV this year and feels badly about it. Psychologists think his work would likely improve if you didn't pressure him about it. Derek needs Roman Catholic parents to give him security and affection through life.

SANDRA needs infinitely patient adopting parents because of her special problems. This healthy-looking 6 year old has poor muscular and motor co-ordination and there is a history of epilepsy in her family. Sandra is very active and talkative and tries hard to please. She is quite tall, fair-haired and brown-eyed. We're looking for warm-hearted people who could get happiness from watching her develop—it will be at a slower pace than the average child. Sandra would get along best in a well-organized Roman Catholic home.

ARCHIE is a 13 year old Canadian Protestant boy with brown eyes, light brown hair and a fair complexion. He is a healthy Grade 6 student, inclined to be passive. Archie finds it difficult to talk to adults and becomes tense over examinations. This boy wants to settle down with permanent parents and have his own identity. Older Protestant parents who have no intellectual pretensions, and who can help a son to a satisfactory life, not necessarily an academic one, will be happy with this boy.

VICTOR & WILMA—Victor, 5, and his sister Wilma, 7, are Canadian Indians. Each is of slim build with brown eyes and black hair. They are healthy and intelligent. Victor is highly strung and Wilma a placid, poised, very pretty child with a pleasing personality. Protestant parents, capable of giving these children a loving home, will acquire an interesting son and a most attractive daughter.

DIANE & JUNE—Teenagers need a tremendous amount of love and guidance as every adult knows. Diane and June are two such youngsters—sisters of 13 and 15 who came into the care of Children's Aid Society as older children. They could still become a permanent part of your family through adoption. June is a tall, fair, athletic girl and tends to be domineering but this is often the case when a youngster isn't certain someone cares. Diane has blue eyes, light brown hair and good features. She tends to be quiet and reserved and depends a lot on June. These children are ready to move into a Protestant home now. Would you be interested?

STEPHANIE needs a lot of individual attention, but she can be a very rewarding child. This 6 year old is sturdy, blue-eyed and fair-complexioned. She has round, even features and is decidedly attractive. Stephanie needs Roman Catholic parents who will be extremely patient and able to understand her deep need for affection. She is highly sensitive, cries easily and finds new situations very frightening. In all likelihood, Stephanie will have difficulty at school.

TODD is a 4 year old Protestant boy of Scottish and Australian descent. He is of slight build, has blue eyes and light brown hair. His health is good and he has average intelligence. This affectionate wee lad wants parents who are relaxed, easy going and capable of handling an active 4 year old boy.

The security of a permanent home with parental love and care is childhood's greatest need.
Children lacking these normal advantages are brought to your attention through these advertisements.

May Meeting Rylstone W.I.

The May meeting of Rylstone Women's Institute was held in the Sunday School Room of Zion Church on Wednesday afternoon, the 2nd, with 8 members, one visitor and one child in attendance.

The new President, Mrs. Stanley Kerr, was in charge of the opening of the meeting, which included the Institute Ode, Lord's Prayer and Mary Stewart Collect. The roll call was answered by "a description of my wedding dress."

The Secretary-Treasurer's report was given by the new sec.-treas., Mrs. Don Stewart. It was decided not to join the Hastings County Home Auxiliary as many of the members found it difficult to attend the local meetings.

The President, Mrs. Stanley Kerr, was chosen as the delegate to the North Hastings District Annual Meeting, to be held at Ivanhoe on May 18th. She will give a two-minute talk on "I am not afraid of tomorrow, for I have seen yesterday and I love today."

Mrs. Ernest Irwin will attend the Officers' Conference in Guelph.

A motion was passed to pay the $25.00 caretaker's fee for the Sunday School room.

As there are not enough girls in the community to have a Girl's Club, their money is being held by the Institute for the present until such time as another Girl's Club is organized.

There will be no June meeting. The July meeting of the Institute will be in the form of a picnic at Crowe River Bridge on July 4th.

Mrs. Don Kerr was convener for the remainder of the programme as follows: Readings, "The Cost of High Living," by Mrs. Percy Reid; "A Little Parable for Mothers," by Mrs. Carl Reid; "How Old Are You," by Mrs. Chester Meiklejohn; "Behind the Scenery," by Mrs. Don Kerr; contest, conducted by Mrs. Gordon Meiklejohn.

There were four grandmothers in attendance and each was presented with a potted double petunia. One was also sent to a sick member.

Mrs. Alfred Barnum, Mrs. Chester Meiklejohn and Mrs. Ernest Irwin were prize winners in the grandmothers' contest. Mrs. Alfred Barnum was the eldest grandmother present and Mrs. Stanley Kerr the youngest.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem and lunch was served by Mrs. Stanley Kerr and Mrs. Gordon Meiklejohn.

Cooking Comments

Instead of throwing out stale bread remove the crusts and cut the slices into strips ½ inch wide. Bake in a hot oven until light golden brown, turning often. Pile these toast fingers log-cabin fashion on a serving plate and use with soup, suggests the Food Department of Macdonald Institute, Guelph.

As a T.V. snack brush rolled cheese sandwiches with butter, toasting in a medium oven, and serve hot.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

Furrow and Fallow
By Fairbairn

The Ontario Hog Producers Marketing Board has categorically denied allegations that any of the funds derived from the levy have been used to purchase shares in FAME or that any association grants have been used for this purpose. There have been printed reports that the board or monies collected by the board had been used to buy shares in FAME (Farmers Allied Meat Enterprises Co-operative) but this was denied by Eldred Aiken, chairman of the board, at the last Members' meeting of the OFA. At least, at that time he said he had no knowledge of such action and one assumes that the chairman would know. Now he has investigated thoroughly and, not only has the board not bought shares, but they have ascertained that any grants made to the producers' association and through it to county associations, have not been so used.

Grey county hog producers apparently were thinking of buying some shares in FAME with funds they had accumulated in their expense grant. County associations receive travel expenses for delegates attending annual and special meetings, and some of the Grey producers had paid their own expenses so the county association had built up a little reserve, and somebody suggested it be used to buy FAME shares. However, this was not done and Mr. Aiken has assured himself that no other county association, nor the provincial association, nor the board (which he knew before) had used producers' money collected in the levy to buy FAME shares.

The levy was raised from 40 to 50 cents Monday, May 14th, by order of the Ontario Farm Products Marketing Board. The local hog board had recommended the increase because of increased operating costs.

While denying the purchase of Fame shares by the various hog producers' organizations, Mr. Aiken made it clear that he and the board supported FAME, and many were personally shareholders. We've heard nothing from FAME, by the way, since the announcement a month ago of the retaining of the U.S. packing house consultants, except rumours about plant locations all over Ontario. Announcement of the location of the initial plant was promised soon after this appointment but nothing has yet been released. We imagine the consultants would need considerable time to assess the situation before making any such important recommendation.

The Ontario Broiler Growers are continuing to try to develop a marketing plan despite the opposition of processors to any marketing plan and their specific objections to the suggestions made thus far. Once again, we must point out that no plan is developed yet. All we have are suggestions about what a plan should contain. This is the procedure in developing any marketing scheme, but so many farmers seem to get the idea from somebody that this is IT when they first hear suggestions or a recommended basis for a plan. Every producer will have ample opportunity to study the proposed plan before any vote is held. The OFA passed a resolution at he last Member's meeting asking the OFPMB to provide an adequate waiting period between the time a vote is announced and the time it is actually held. We're certain this will be done but we would like to point out to farm organization leaders that 'adequate time' will not do the job by itself. A well organized information program is the thing that will really turn the trick.

Today's Tidbit

Some experts say the spring transfer of cows from barn to pasture should be full-time and complete when it is done. Days out and nights in makes it difficult for them to adjust and they are hard to keep clean.

WEED OF THE WEEK SERIES

YELLOW ROCKET — YELLOW PERIL

Yellow rocket usually shows up in hay fields the year after seeding. It gets into the fields in ungraded or low grade seed. The first year you probably do not even see it, because it only grows a flat rosette of leaves a couple of inches across. The next year it takes off like a rocket, and before you can say 'herbicide" it is a foot and a half high and still growing strong.

Just so you cannot overlook it, it breaks out a blaze of yellow flowers. If yu have never been exposed to the yellow peril you probably wonder why mustard is showing up so early this year. It is not mustard you see first in the season, it's yellow rocket. Dark shiny green leaves unlike any mustard plant, gave it the name of pot herb. The upper leaves are stemless and not nearly so cut-up as the lower ones. Basal leaves often have 4 or 5 lobes, with the end lobe bigger than those closer to the stem. The flowers have four bright butter yellow petals and grow in long clumps above the leafy part of the plant.

Once you see yellow rocket blooming in a new seeding it's too late to do much about it except pull or spud the plants or cut the field early. This gives you good hay or silage and stops the rocket going to seed. Once you know the weed, check your new seedings as soon as the grain is off. If you find the rosettes of yellow rocket present hit them with a 2,4-DB spray in the fall. Use Publication 75 of the Ontario Department of Agriculture "Guide to Chemical Weed Control" to blueprint your attack tactics.

If yellow rocket is growing in poorly drained areas, where there is no clover, or along ditches, you can use 2,4-D at any time to control it and a number of other troublesome weeds. Yellow rocket likes wet feet, even if it does grow well on the upland fields. At one time it was known as water mustard, a more descriptive name than yellow rocket.

Remember that the simplest way to control this weed is to keep it off the farm in the first place, says the Field Crops Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture. It is classified as a primary noxious weed under the Seeds Act, so you can be sure that if you buy registered, certified or commercial number one seed you will not be buying trouble in the form of yellow rocket.

Entered Into Rest

MRS. ELGIN JACKMAN

Mrs. Charlotte Deborah Jackman, Stirling, died at the Belleville General Hospital on Friday, May 11th, 1962, in her 94th year. She had been in poor health for the past two years.

Born in Rawdon Township, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McGee, she lived in that area before taking up residence here 36 years ago. She was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stirling, and took an active part in the Ladies' Aid and the Women's Missionary Society.

She was the widow of Elgin Jackman, who died 22 years ago, and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Elvin (Flossie) Pollock, of R.R. 3, Campbellford, and Mrs. Stanley (Katheleen) Irven, R.R. 4 Stirling; four grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren. A son, Percy, predeceased her in 1953. Mrs. Jackman was the last of her family.

The funeral service was held at the Duffin Funeral Home, Stirling, on Monday at 2.00 p.m. Mr. Thos. D. Dodds, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stirling, conducted the service and was assisted by Rev. E. A. Toombes, Campbellford.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Gerald Jackman, Mel Andrus, Ray Pollock, Percy Reid, Don Scott and Wilson Sinclair.

New Telephone Directories Issued

The 1962 edition of the telephone directory for the Belleville-Trenton territory will be issued soon and in the hands of subscribers by the week-end of May 18th.

Milton Sweeney, Bell Telephone manager in Belleville said the 1962 directory takes on a new look this year. Replacing the green and white colour scheme will be turquoise and white front and back pages.

The cover illustration too is new. This year it shows the Prince Edward County War Memorial in Picton, replacing the 1961 illustration of the main building, Albert College in Belleville.

Inside, more new features have been added, pink introductory pages, containing instructions for telephone usage covering all Bell customers in the municipalities included in the directory, and several pages of Area Code Numbers in Canada and the United States, for use in long distance calling.

Circulation of the directory this year, said Mr. Sweeney, will reach more than 44,500 copies, an increase of more than 7,800 over the 1961 circulation figure.

Towns and villages covered by the directory are: Bancroft, Bicroft, Boulter, Brighton, Coe Hill, Denbigh, Fernleigh, Frankford, Gilmour, Lonsdale, Madoc, Marmora, Maynooth, Northbrook, Picton, Plevna, Stirling, Thurlow, Trenton, Tweed, Wellington and Wooler.

The directory does not go into effect until May 20th, the date Brighton is converted to All Number Calling and dial service.

ORAL POLIO VACCINE

This vaccine is to be administered to the family unit within a two-day period, MAY 29th and 30th, 1962. It is necessary for the whole family to take the vaccine in order to obtain the best and desired results.

Public and High School students will be done at the schools.

Pre-school and all other adults will be done at the Community Hall, Stirling, on May 30th, in the afternoon and evening. Infants under the age of three months are fed as are other members of the family.

Previous immunizations by injection (Salk) or lack of it does not eliminate the need for this oral vaccine. The Department of Health of Ontario stress that this immunization treatment involves the whole family, not individuals. Sabin vaccine (Oral) is not a replacement for Salk vaccine (injection) but the two vaccines complement each other.

No harmful effects have ever been reported. The only people that should not take the vaccine are:

1. Those acutely ill.
2. Those with neurological diseases such as multiple sclerosis.
3. Those taking antileukemic drugs or cortisone like drugs.
4. Those who have had mouth surgery or dental extractions in the previous two weeks.
5. Those who propose mouth surgery or dental extractions in the succeeding two weeks.

Again it is to be stressed that the whole family unit take this vaccine for maximum and best results.

Cooking Comments

For variety, top fresh Ontario asparagus stalks with a quick mushroom sauce. Simply stir ½ cup milk in with 1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup. Simmer till hot.

Garnishes add that special touch to soup, reminds the food experts from Macdonald Institute, Guelph. Try the following: whipped cream, crisp cereals, croutons, lemon slices, carrot curls, chopped parsley or chopped crisp bacon.

5-Year Plan in Arts and Science in Grade 9 To Be Adopted at School

Regular Meeting Stirling-Rawdon School Board Was Held On Tuesday Night

The monthly meeting of the Stirling-Rawdon District High School Board was held in the High School on Tuesday night.

Dr. R. B. Murray presided and was supported by Harry Morrow, Ray Mallory and James Johnston.

A letter of thanks was tabled from Mr. and Mrs. R. Marbry and Hatton Fuels wrote concerning a tender for the yearly supply of fuel oil at the school.

Watson & Wiegand, Architects, reported that gas leaks and a balky motor reported last month had been repaired and the Eastwood Construction Co. wrote suggesting that the science desks should be firmly secured to the floor.

A letter was tabled from the Bay of Quinte High School Board regarding the payment of tuition fees for a pupil in the Oak Lake area. H. Morrow, Vice-Chairman, suggested that the above Board might not be familiar with a verbal understanding reached at the time of the division of Sidney Township for High School purposes and recommended that a meeting be arranged between the two Boards to discuss the matter. Mr. Morrow was authorized to investigate the matter.

Joe Irish, caretaker, in his report, outlined some needed repairs and stated he was experiencing difficulty in making repairs to some table legs and chairs. His report was received on motion of Messrs. Morrow and Johnston and the matters discussed will be referred to the Property Committee.

To Continue Insurance

Douglas Robson interviewed the Board members seeking the privilege of carrying on the student-accident insurance in the High School. He submitted figures to show how beneficial the insurance had been to some pupils and their parents in the past. His request was granted on motion of Messrs. Mallory and Johnston.

Pentecostals Turn Sod For New Church On Front St. West

(by Rev. Ronald Reid)

Mother Nature smiled approvingly with brilliant sunshine and a warm breeze as upwards of a hundred Pentecostals, including visitors from Trenton, Frankford, Belleville and Campbellford, rejoiced with the congregation of the Stirling Assembly as they turned the sod for the erection of their new church in a spacious lot just west o fthe Frankford corner on Front Street West.

Present for the ceremony and the turning of the first sod was Rev. A. Hodgen, pioneer of the Pentecostal work in Stirling who laboured in the town for four years from 1954 until 1958. Since that time Rev. Robert Donnan resident of Stirling, has successfully pastored the church and brought it to its present state. He also turned the second sod and spoke briefly of his joy on this occasion.

Special speaker for the service was Rev. Hope Smith from Belleville. Rev. Fred Spring, from Frankford, conducted the opening prayer and Rev. Ronald Reid, of Trenton, pronounced the benediction.

Full cost of the church is reckoned to be $12,000 and the opening is expected to be at the end of August or the beginning of September with a seating capacity in the main auditorium for 125.

Membership

The matter of membership in the local Chamber of Commerce was discussed at length and it was the consensus of the executive that a letter from the Secretary to interested parties should suffice. Those interested in the progress of the Village should join the Chamber and assist in promoting its welfare.

J. V. Holt addressed the gathering on the recently organized Highlands of Hastings Tourist Association which has for its objective the promotion of the tourist industry throughout the county. The Association includes representatives from the City of Belleville and the various municipalities throughout the County. Mr. Holt was appointed as Stirling's representative on the Association.

Ask For Liquor Outlet

The matter of having a liquor outlet established in the Village was also discussed at great length. The consensus of the gathering was that with outlets in all neighbouring municipalities, with the exception of Frankford, local businessmen were losing trade which otherwise would come to this Village. It was decided to petition Village Council to make arrangements at its earliest convenience for a plebiscite on the question of establishing a brewers' retail and liquor store only in Stirling.

Following discussion of other minor items of business the meeting adjourned.

The topic was on Bible study, by Mrs. H. Pillen, from the Book of Acts. A fifteen minute Bible study period proved very interesting, dealing with After Pentecost. The roll call was Bible Mothers and was responded to by 30 members and visitors.

The minutes were read by Mrs. R. Thompson, Secretary. The correspondence dealing with an invitation to be with Carmel ladies to celebrate their 50th anniversary was read. A letter from Stanwood was also read to attend their meeting. Mrs. Wellman announced the Regional Rally to be held May 30th at Mount Pleasant.

Mrs. C. Sine reported on the visits made by Mrs. G. Bailey and herself during the past month. The Fruit and Flower convener reported sending plants to Mrs. K. Thompson and Mrs. J. McKeown and a packet of reading material to Mrs. T. Webb, who are sick in various hospitals.

The Press and Publicity convener, Mrs. L. Bailey, spoke on the United Church Observer. Anyone in Springbrook Congregation wishing to have the Observer, please contact either Mrs. M. Bateman or the convener.

The ladies were asked to bring clothing for the bale. Visiting cards are to be purchased for the Visiting Committee. A donation of ten dollars is to be given Camp Quin-Mo-Lac. The June meeting, being Guest Day, the Stanwood, Rylstone and Gospel Hall ladies are invited to attend the meeting. The guest speaker for the day is to be left in the hands of the programme committee.

Mrs. M. Mason gave a reading, "Ten Commandments For Modern Parents." Mrs. G. Webb gave a poem, "Bright Intervals."

The Messengers and the Explorers Groups and their mothers were invited to this meeting. At this time the President invited the guests, along with the members, to the basement to view films. The minister, Mr. H. Pillen pronounced the benediction.

Mr. Beatty, of Stirling, showed three films. At the conclusion Mrs. D. Fleming thanked Mr. Beatty for his kindness.

The hostesses and their assistants served lunch to 29 Messengers and Explorers and five pre-school children and the mothers and members. Miss Vicky Bateman thanked the U.C.W. for the films and lunch.

Montgomery -- Watson Wedding

St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, was the scene of a pretty summer wedding on Saturday, May 19th at 2 p.m. and was decorated for the occasion with baskets of mauve and white lilacs, interspersed with pink and white tulips. The guest pews were designated with white bows of satin ribbon.

The pastor the Rev. P. J. Hommersen, B.A., B.D., solemnized the double ring ceremony of the marriage of Albertha May Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Watson, of Havelock, and Robert Lorne Montgomery, son of Mrs. William Montgomery and the late Mr. Montgomery, Stirling.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiantly lovely in a floor-length bridal gown of nylon lace. The fitted bodice was attached to a bouffant skirt of nylon net over rayon with a border of scalloped lace at the hip line. The dainty square-cut neckline was accented with sequins and the long pointed sleeves closed at the wrist in lily formation. She wore a waist length veil of nylon rayon embroidered tulle with a scalloped edge. It was caught to a pearl tiara headdress. She carried a white Bible on which nestled a bouquet of sweetheart red rosebuds with satin streamers.

Mrs. Maurice Montgomery, Stirling, was matron of honour, wearing a street length frock of turquoise silk organza. The fittel bodice was held with a wide cummerbund which ended in a large satin bow at the back.

Miss Barbara Montgomery, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, wearing a street length dress of lime green nylon chiffon over taffeta with shirred bodice and streamers cascading at the back.

Miss Linda Watson, Havelock, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and wore a similar frock in yellow nylon chiffon. All three attendants featured hats of white velvet bows and veiling. They carried cascade bouquets of white crysanthemums and fern and wore white shoes trimmed with pearl drops. Their dresses were complemented with a single strand of pearls, the gift of the bride.

Mr. Maurice Montgomery, Stirling, was groomsman for his brother. The ushers were Messrs. Robert Neal and Robert Green, Stirling.

Mrs. Harry Brown, Church organist, provided the traditional wedding music and Mrs. Bruce Glendinning was soloist. She rendered previous to the ceremony "For You Alone" and during the signing of the register "I'll Walk Beside You."

The reception was held in St. Paul's dining hall and the United Church Women catered. Mrs. Montgomery received her guests in a toast beige two-piece ensemble of rayon and nylon lace over satin in sheath effect with matching accessories and wore a corsage of baby pink rose buds. She was assisted by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Watson, Havelock, wearing a taffeta dress of navy with white flecks, white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The bride's table was appointed with white damask and centred by a three-tiered wedding cake decorated in white scrolls with silver leaves. The cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom with lily of the valley. The bridal bouquets added to the nuptial table.

Guests were in attendance from Toronto, Havelock, Peterborough, Marmora, Trent River Bridge, Apsley, Belleville, Frankford, Mount Pleasant, Rawdon, and Stirling.

The bride chose for travelling to Niagara Falls a sheath dress of navy taffeta with matching duster, white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Te newlyweds will reside in an apartment on the Fifth Concession of Rawdon.

Previous to the wedding the staff of the Elaine Footwear plant presented the bride-to-be with a steam iron and the groom who is employed at the McIntosh & Wells Fender Shop was the recipient of a platform rocker. The bride was also entertained to a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Maurice Faulkner with Mrs. Ivan Eggleton as co-hostess.

WOMEN DISAPPOINTED

The National Council of Women had asked the government for a better deal for Canadian widows and widowers. No doubt they expected that the recent budget, presented just before the election date was set, would give some relief. No mention of the matter was made, and there is naturally a great deal of disappointment.

Women are used to getting the brush-off from governments, because women do not seem to unite in efforts to get justice. They are not aggressive politically.

Certainly they have a good case. For example, if a breadwinner dies and leaves his widow a pension or annuity, the revenue department capitalizes it. To simplify that, they guess how long she will live and how much she will receive — and the tax is based on that guess. If she is unfortunate to die in six years instead of 16 years, she has paid tax on what she will never get!

Surely this is a raw injustice in a nation where we are supposed to believe in the Christian principle that a man and his wife are one person. It is a real injustice to widows and widowers alike, who work together to arrange that on the death of one the other will not suffer too severe a drop in income.

What should the women do?

I can tell them what men would do. With an election coming up, they would attend all campaign meetings and they would ask each and every candidate to declare himself on the issue. A candidate wanting support would be called to make a firm promise to work for reform in the field of estate taxes. Then, if elected, the candidate would be reminded continuously of his promise and would be expected to speak up in parliament on the subject.

Women underestimate their own power. Who runs most of the campaigns, gets out the vote, does the telephoning, mails the literature, convenes the teas and even drives cars in the parades? The women! Political candidates need this help and need it badly. While they are in need, they should be asked to commit themselves to doing something worthwhile when elected. One worthy act would be to give widows and widowers something closer to justice in the taxation of hard-earned pensions.

River Valley Unit Met Thursday Last

The River Valley Unit of St. Paul's United Church Women met last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Glenn and Mrs. Roy Bush for their monthly meeting. There were fourteen members, five visitors and ten children present.

The leader, Mrs. Jack Bush, was in charge and opened with a poem, "Need." After the singing of the theme hymn and the Lord's Prayer, the programme was turned over to Mrs. Gerald Brooks. Her theme was "Praise Ye the Lord for His Power." After the singing of the hymn, "O Spirit of the Living God," Mrs. Phil Conley read the Scripture I. Chronicles 29: 10-13. Mrs. Gerald Brooks gave the meditation and Mrs. Ralph Johnson led in prayer. All joined in singing the hymn, "O For A Thousand Tongues."

Roll call was answered with a verse from the Bible containing the word "Power."

Guest Speaker

Mrs. Ralph Johnson introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Bateman, her mother, from Tweed. Mrs. Bateman's daughter and husband, Rev. Donald Richardson, reside in the Mission at Norway House. Mrs. Bateman had the privilege of visiting them last summer and she told of the wonderful work they are doing among the Cree Indians.

James Evans was the first Missionary there. At that time there was no means of travel except by water or snowshoe and dog sled in the winter. Now sea planes take in supplies about three or four times a year and roads are being built. Norway House is the "Gateway to the North" as this is where the Indians come to trade.

At Warren's Landing Rev. D. Richardson built a new church with very little help except from the Indians. This was opened last fall with fifteen Indians as new members. At the school here the orphan and destitute children are taught. It is helped by your M. & M. Fund. They are always in need of used clothing, Missionaries, deacons, etc. Mrs. Galt, a United Church Deaconess is at Norway House where she has started Explorer Groups, Mission Bands, Sunday School and 4-H Clubs.

Mrs. Bateman also read an interesting letter from a young school teacher farther north who boards with Mrs. Watt. "Angels of the Hudson Bay," by Anderson, tells of the life of this same Mrs. Watt.

Mrs. Ralph Utman thanked Mrs. Bateman for her wonderful message.

Everyone enjoyed the vocal number by Mrs. Glenn Brooks. Mrs. Gerald Brooks presented the chapter of the study book, "Dangerous Corners." One verse of "What A Friend We Have In Jesus" was sung. Mrs. Roy Bush very capably conducted the Bible study and urged all to get their books up to date.

Twenty-nine home calls, one hospital call and two cards were reported for the month. After the dedication of the offering Rev. P. J. Hommersen pronounced the benediction.

Everyone enjoyed a social half hour. Mrs. Phil Conley voiced the appreciation to all for a very pleasant afternoon.

Timely Tips

The best defense against a farm fire is a good fire extinguisher located in the right place, says Hal Wright Ontario Department of Agriculture Farm Safety Specialist. Every barn and home should be equipped with suitable hand extinguishers that the properly maintained and handy for any emergency. This is where a few minutes and dollars spent now could save your home or barn, and maybe your life.

Don't feed any mercury treated seed to livestock, warns Prof. C. B. Kelly of the Botany Department of the Ontario Agricultural College. Even when diluted to less than 1 per cent of the feed it is still poisonous. Store the grain until next year, or dispose of it in such a manner that livestock cannot accidentally reach it.

Be sure to get the Ontario Department of Agriculture "Guide to Chemical Weed Control" Publication No. 75, advise weed control experts with the Ontario Agricultural College. Copies will be available from your County Agricultural Representative. The guide outlines the latest recommendations for the control of weeds by herbicides.

Be sure to check the crankcase oil level in your tractor every day before operating it, suggest extension engineers with the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Add oil only to the level of the full mark on the dipstick or to the bottom of the level plug hole or petcock. A low oil level means that less oil is brought into contact with hot engine surfaces. Also the contaminant percentage is proportionately greater.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

Furrow and Fallow By Fairbairn

The hot, dry weather of last week added to the headaches of farmers all over Ontario, and reports from out west about probabilities of feed grain production there haven't helped alleviate the discomfort. Wheat acreage in Ontario is down, although some spring sowing may boost it a bit. In the west, there is definite indication that farmers are stepping up their wheat acreage despite very dry weather, and this will be at the expense of feed grains like oats and barley, as well as some of the oil seed crops.

Ontario farmers usually buy about 50 million bushels of feed grain from the west and up to 20 million bushels of corn from the U.S. to augment their own production. Oats and barley are in short supply now, and the pegged exchange rate at the lower level of 92½c will certainly increase the price of corn brought from the U.S. Crop reports from the west on yield prospects are not encouraging. Even Manitoba, where soil moisture is reported to be satisfactory, had only half as much rain in April as the average of 1.08 inches. Soil moisture conditions in southern Saskatchewan and southern Alberta are critical, and reliable sources report soil drifting this early in the season. It looks as though only timely rains during the growing season in most of the west is the only thing that will avert another disastrous year for them.

All this means that Ontario farmers could be short on feed grain next winter unless they produce a lot more themselves. Seed sales this spring were higher and there may be some increase in overall oats and barley acreage, but this dry weather will influence the catch, so careful use of fertilizer and a planned weed control programme will really pay dividends this year. If it isn't too late to sow an extra few acres — many areas could still plant grain corn — it could pay real dividends this year. Agriculture Minister Stewart advocated an increase of at least 20 per cent in feed grain production in Ontario soon after he took office last fall, and officials are hopeful that many farmers took his advice. Guessing now is that an increase in feed grain production of 30 per cent could be utilized, but any increase is highly unlikely under present weather conditions without quite an increase in acreage. What that may be nobody can tell at the moment.

There was an unusual development on the vertical integration front last week when the first big company in Canada to take a public stand on this topic announced that it was opposed to V.I. It went even farther — the chairman of the board said his company would fight vertical integration in agriculture as it had in the flour milling business three decades ago. This company has one feed plant in Ontario and three in Quebec.

Vertical integration has made itself felt in the broiler business in Ontario, in the vegetable field, as well as in other poultry and livestock. Most farm organizations oppose the principle of one individual or company controlling two or more steps in the production and processing cycle of the agricultural industry, such as a feed company controlling a processing plant, hatchery or owning farms. When this system progresses to the point where it is a single-profit operation where all profit is accumulated at the final step in the cycle such as the processing plant, it means that all others involved are considered merely as overhead. They are hired hands.

Traditionally in this country the farmer has been an independent producer/businessman and most do not wish to change. This company agrees with this philosophy and doesn't think the farmer should be considered as overhead or treated as a hired hand.

Shower Held For Bride-To-Be

On Thursday evening, May 3rd, a number of ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. Betty Faulkner in honour of Miss Bertha Watson on her forthcoming marriage. The room was decorated with pink and white streamers and balloons filled with confetti hung over the bride's chair.

A number of contests were enjoyed with the winners being Joan Jones, Shirley Anderson, Sally Woodbeck, Dorothy Green, Dolly Montgomery, Marlene Bruce and Olive Sharp.

An address was read by Marie Eggleton and a number of gifts were brought in for Bertha to open.

Bertha thanked everyone for the evening, lunch was served and a social half hour enjoyed.

"Bogy Man"

(Advt.)

Those terrible Tory stories of Socialism's serfdom! How we should pity those poor prairie people.

In 1944 the CCF came into Power taking 47 seats out of 52. Their success is best measured by the fact that they were returned again and again (1948, 1952, 1956, 1960).

In view of the lurid stories of failure by the opposition Parties one wonders why the people continue to re-elect the Government. Here may be a few answers:

1. The Provincial per capita tax is below the national average, and only about two-thirds that of Ontario. Even if we include the medical care taxes Saskatchewan's per capita tax is still lower than Ontario.

2. The net per capita debt for Ontario is $176.54, whereas the net per capita debt for Saskatchewan is only $54.00.

3. Saskatchewan was the only Province that did not have a deficit in the last fiscal year. Ontario had a deficit of $178,200,000. Saskatchewan had a surplus of $200,000. (Source of information Dominion Bureau of Statistics.)

4. The Saskatchewan Government provides fire, casualty and other insurance at rates 40 per cent below the provinces.

5. Automobile insurance is provided at cost and is compulsory. Rates are among the lowest in the world.

6. In 1947 the Saskatechwan Government introduced the First Hospital Services Plan in North America, and now has the largest number of hospital beds per 1000 population of any Province in Canada.

7. This Province is the only one to provide free air ambulance service at doctor's request.

8. Likewise the programme for Senior Citizens is without parallel in Canada.

9. Operation of Government owned companies showed nearly 13 million dollars profit.

10. Assistance to farmers increased from $44,246 in 1944 to $6,943,310 in 1961.

All of these on about two-thirds the per capita tax of Ontario! No wonder the old line parties are worried. The Liberal Government had Saskatchewan nearly bankrupt prior to 1944. The Conservatives have Canada in just about the same fix now.

"Bogy Man" stories are the product of infantile minds, incapable of conceiving solutions to our problems, and unwilling to give credit to those who have found the solution.

Sincerely yorrs,
John Page,
New Democratic Candidate for
Hastings Frontenac

ORAL POLIO VACCINE

This vaccine is to be administered to the family unit within a two-day period, MAY 29th and 30th, 1962. It is necessary for the whole family to take the vaccine in order to obtain the best and desired results.

Public and High School students will be done at the schools.

Pre-school and all other adults will be done at the Community Hall, Stirling, on May 30th, in the afternoon and evening. Infants under the age of three months are fed as are other members of the family.

Previous immunizations by injection (Salk) or lack of it does not eliminate the need for this oral vaccine. The Department of Health of Ontario stress that this immunization treatment involves the whole family, not individuals. Sabin vaccine (Oral) is not a replacement for Salk vaccine (injection) but the two vaccines complement each other.

No harmful effects have ever been reported. The only people that should not take the vaccine are:

1. Those acutely ill.
2. Those with neurological diseases such as multiple sclerosis.
3. Those taking antileukemic drugs or cortisone like drugs.
4. Those who have had mouth surgery or dental extractions in the previous two weeks.
5. Those who propose mouth surgery or dental extractions in the succeeding two weeks.

Again it is to be stressed that the whole family unit take this vaccine for maximum and best results.

The addition of a Kindergarten class to the local Public School was one of the main subjects of discussion at last night's session of the Stirling Public School Board. A deputation of four ladies, Mrs. E. C. Hay-Ellis, Mrs. Wm. Webber, Mrs. Max Maguire and Mrs. Wm. Hipwell, waited upon the Board. Mrs. Hipwell acted as spokesman for the group and outlined the advantages of such a class and urged that action be taken as soon as possible.

A lengthy discussion ensued and it was decided on motion of Messrs. D. R. Williams and Mrs. R. Luery, to contact Inspector Waldrum to secure all available information on the subject.

Ralph Jeffs presided for the meeting and was supported by D. R. Williams, A. Munro, R. D. Cooke, E. Warren and Mrs. R. Luery.

The Secretary was instructed to write a letter of appreciation to the Stirling Horticultural Society for its co-operation in beautifying the school grounds, and remit $5.00 as a membership.

The Stirling Public Utilities will be contacted by the Property Committee in regards removal of dead limbs on the trees in the school area.

The purchase of a filing cabinet by Principal M. Scott was authorized.

A request from the Junior Farmers for use of the school ball diamond was rejected.

Bata Win Over Stirling 'Falcons'

"Buck" Steacy Comes Out of Retirement to Pitch For Visitors — 8-6 Final Score

Bata Shoemen staged a five-run rally in the first of the ninth inning to defeat the local "Falcons" at the Henry St. playground on Saturday night. The game was played before only a small crowd of spectators and the final score was 8 to 6.

A feature of the game was the appearance of the veteran star "Buck" Steacy on the mound for the visitors. To some of the fans his appearance brought back memories of his many star performances with the Wooler championship team of some years past. While his fast ball may have lost some of its former zip he still has a lot of good pitches in his repertoire and he gave a good display here Saturday night. His control was a bit shaky at times but until his retirement in the 8th inning he had given up only two hits and struck out eight. He walked five of the locals. He was replaced by Levek in the tighth.

Morton, on the mound for the "Falcons", also pitched a good brand of ball and would have come out a winner had it not been for errors by his supporting cast. He had six strikeouts to his credit and gave up three walks. He allowed six hits.

The visitors opened the scoring in the first of the second with two runs aided by two throwing errors and a hit. Stirling evened the count in the 6th on three hits, one a triple by McConnell. The visitors again took the lead in the first of the seventh to make it 3 to 2 but Stirling tallied in the same inning on a walk to Smith and a homer by McMaster when the visiting centre fielder misjudged his long drive. They made it 6 to 3 with two more in the 8th on two hits and a walk. In the ninth the visitors counted five runs on two errors, a walk and a home run blast by Foshay to deep left field. The final score was 8 to 6.

The Line-Ups

Stirling — Shortt, 2b; Faulkner, rf; Smith, ss; McMaster, lf; Couch, cf; Bell, 1b; McConnell, 3b; Morton, p; Hagerman replaced Bell in the 6th and Noble replaced Faulkner in the eighth.

Bata — Houlden, DeFosse, 2b; Foshay, MacDonald, K. Hanoski, Genereaux, B. Hanoski, Roberts, 1b; Steacy, p. Levek replaced Stacey in the eighth.

Stirling ..... 0 0 0 0 0 2 2 2 0—6

Lose At Bata

Playing at Bata on Thursday night the local "Falcons" dropped a 6-5 decision to the homesters.

BLOOMFIELD DOWNS "FALCONS"

With Bobby Hull, the hockey star, on the pitching mound Bloomfield downed the local "Falcon" Juniors in a scheduled game played under the lights at Picton last night. The final score was 5 to 2.

Hull had twelve strikeouts to his credit, two of them coming in the ninth inning after the "Falcons" had scored their only two runs.

Stewart started on the mound for the "Falcons" with McMaster taking over in the second. The winners counted two runs in the first and three in the second.

Line-Ups

Bloomfield — Cole, rf; Moore, 1b; K. Stacey, ss; MacDonald, 2b; M. Stacey, c; Weese, 3b; Hull, p; C. Stacey, cf; Pike, lf.

Stirling — Shortt, 2b; Smith, c; Stewart, p; McMaster, rf; Hagerman, 1b; Morton, ss; McConnell, 3b; Reid, cf; McCrory, lf. When McMaster took over the pitching Faulkner went to right field.

Only two tenders were tabled at the special meeting of Council on Thursday night and were opened in the presence of members of Council and A. E. Read, a representative of Procter & Redfern, the Village consultant engineers. The H. J. McFarland Co., of Picton, submitted the other tender.

Time Limit

For every working day beyond the above dates required to complete each phase of the work, the contractor shall pay to the owner the sum of $100 per day in liquidated damages.

The work is expected to commence by May 31st. If for any reason award of the tender is delayed beyond this date, the working days lost will be added to the completion dates.

Frankford Has New Fire Hall; Local Firm Builder

Frankford's new fire hall, for many years a "dream," is now a reality.

On Saturday, May 26th, a large crowd of villagers and area dignitaries were on hand to see the keys of the hall handed from the building contractor, Jack Bush of Riverside Construction to Carman Mikel, chairman of the building committee with Frankford Council, and then on to Fire Chief Mervin Dafoe.

Many of the special speakers including Lee Grills, M.P. for Hastings South; Harold Varty, Hastings County Warden; Douglas McMaster, Reeve of Murray Township; Harleigh Hamilton, Reeve of Sidney Township, and Fire Chief Gerald Vance, of Belleville, expressed the hope that the hall would never have to be used. One point brought out by Elmer Sandercock, M.L.A. for Hastings West, was that the new hall itself is fireproof.

Riverside Construction, of Stirling, were the contractors for the erection of the building.

Reeve G. C. Mouck, Stirling, attended the opening ceremonies.

Toast To Editor

Here is a minister who appreciated the editor. At a recent editorial convention, he offered the following toast:

"To save an editor from starvation, take his paper and pay for it promptly. To save him from bankruptcy, advertise in his paper liberally. To save him from despair, send him every item of news of which you can get hold. To save him from profanity, write your correspondence plainly on one side of the sheet and send it in as early as possible. To save him from mistakes bury him. Dead people are the only ones who never make mistakes."

Several motions were passed in the general meeting. It was approved that $50.00 be sent to the International Federation of University Women and that a similar amount be sent to the Elizabeth Fry Society. The passing of a motion to continue giving two $300.00 scholarships followed.

In the annual meeting copies of the Annual Reports were distributed to all members and the chairmen of each committee moved the adoption of her report. E. Boyce; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Anne Ashcroft; Membership Convener, Mrs. M. Morton with a committee of Mrs. B. C. Smith, Miss Mary Doyle, Mrs. R. Cass; Programme Convener, Mrs. R. E. Hurst, Mrs. R. M. NcNicol.

The programme for the evening consisted of a Fighting Words Panel moderated by Mrs. F. H. Bellstedt. The interests of each member of the panel were brought to light by Mrs. J. Boyd during her introductions of them. Members of the club who composed the panel were Mrs. R. L. Graham, Mrs. J. Ormsby, Mrs. G. B. Galbraith and Mrs. J. Haig. They discussed such quotations as (1) The busier we are the more mentally stable we are; (2) To have a conscience is to be a coward; (3) The opinion of the masses is based on what they read in one daily newspaper. Sound, interesting and varied ideas were brought forward during the discussion. The appreciation of the club was expressed by Miss Mary Doyle after which refreshments were served.

Scout and Cub News

(By J. Irish)

On the week-end of May 11, 12, 13, 340 boys from the Belleville District Council camped on the Roscoe Vanderwater Conservation Area. The boys were divided into three sub camps, the Cayuga, Mohawk and Senaca.

One Patrol from Stirling took part with Don Stewart as Patrol Leader. The Patrols were graded on their projects and gadgets made in camp, with the Stirling Patrol receiving Grade A. In the whole camp 10 patrols were scored A; 32, B, and 2, C.

At the end of the camp, which broke up at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, J. Irish, District Commissioner, presented Don Pitman, local Scoutmaster, with his Wood Badge and neckerchief, which he passed during the year.

Tree Planting Project

On the week-end of May 18-19 the Moira Valley District Council held a tree-planting project on the farm of Don Irish, Oak Lake. Scouts from Marmora, Centenary and Stirling took part. The boys arrived in camp on Friday evening and Saturday morning at nine o'clock started to plant trees. Three thousand trees were planted by noon and the afternoon was spent in swimming.

On Sunday morning at nine-thirty, J. Irish, D.C., held a Scouts Own with the boys taking part. The District Commissioner emphasized our Duty to God.

The Marmora boys left camp Sunday evening and the Stirling boys Monday morning to get ready for the fireworks display at the Fair Grounds. A nice profit was realized from selling popcorn at this event.

Cubs

On Saturday,. May 26th the Cubs held a picnic at Oak Lake with 38 boys taking part in the games. All went to the woods for a hike and to collect wood for campfires.

At five o'clock supper was served by Mrs. Duffin, Mrs. Ken Cooke, Mrs. Bruce Murray, Mrs. Mayell and Mrs. Irish. The weiners soon disappeared as 38 hungry boys sat down to eat. Chocolate cake and ice cream topped off the meal.

About seven o'clock a campfire was held with all the boys taking part. Songs were led by J. Irish and each Six put on a skit. Mrs. Irish told the boys a story. About eight o'clock the boys left for home with everybody happy.

District Field Day

Next Saturday is the District Field Day which will be held at the Marmora Fair Grounds. Every boy is expected to turn out for this last outing. Hot dogs and coke will be supplied to the boys, and parents are requested to see that their boy is at the Public School on Saturday, June 2nd at one o'clock.

Cars are needed for transportation, so if you would like to take a load the boys will be ready for home by five o'clock. Come back and see your boy do his "stuff."

This will be the last of the Cub programme for this summer. The year has been very successful, a lot of badges being passed and the boys keeping up their test work. Some boys will be passing their swimmers' badge this summer when they can go up to the lake for it.

New Leader

A new leader will be working with the boys next fall. Mr. Wagner, who is moving from Belleville, is a very good Cub leader and the boys will like him. He, too, has his Wood Badge.

Mrs. Burton Woodbeck, who is a patient in the Belleville General Hospital, was very sorry that she was unable to be with the boys at the picnic or to be able to go to Marmora on Saturday. However, we are happy to say she is improving. Remember boys, Rikkie has been with us nine years and may not be able to carry on.

So goodbye Cubs, be very careful this summer and good hunting to all.

Now Is The Time To Learn How To Save A Life

The water death statistics point out quite cleasly, that 356 people will probably drown in Ontario this year. Twenty per cent of them will die during July, the height of the summer season. Over one hundred automobiles will return from Provincial vacation lands minus one child passenger. Eighty swimmers will find the shore is fatally far away; seventy sailors will drown through falling overboard, or because their crafts are shipping water faster than they can bail; ten waders will fall or step into water that is too deep. Sad, tragic facts of our time. Sad, because they tear loved ones from their families. Tragic, because most of these accidents need never happen.

One way to prevent water accidents is to follow the common-sense rules for water safety. Don't swim out to the centre of the lake, follow the shore line at a safe distance; make sure your boat is safe and seaworthy and that you and your passengers wear approved life jackets; keep your youngsters in sight every second they are in or near the water.

Prepare yourself in case an accident does happen. Make sure you include a St. John Ambulance Save-A-Life course in your holiday plans.

Next week is St. John Save-A-Life Week in Ontario and their instructors will be giving free, two-hour courses in artificial respiration across the Province.

NOW, is the time to learn how to save-a-life and make a liar of the statistics.

Preceding the meeting quiet music was played by the pianist, Mrs. Murray Martin.

Mrs. James Johnston, President of St. Andrew's group, presided and opened the meeting by reading a lovely poem, "I Knelt to Pray," followed by the hymn, "For the Beauty of the Earth."

The devotional period was conducted by member of St. Paul's United Church. The Scripture Lesson from part of the 17th chapter of St. John was read by Mrs. Clifford Lansing. Prayer was given by Mrs. Robert Patterson. A lovely solo, "Father in Heaven Teach Me To Pray," was contributed by Mrs. Harold West, with Mrs. Bruce Stapley playing her accompaniment.

A spiritual reading, "The Old Coloured Preacher Speaks on De Divers Disease," was given by Mrs. Jack Bush. All joined in singing the hymn "Come Let Us Sing of a Wonderful Love." Another interesting reading

SPINACH

Although we buy spinach the year 'round early summer pickings now on the markets are rather special. The young leaves are so tender and flavourful they can be eaten raw; they are exceptionally good for freezing too and make into marvellous luncheon dishes when combined with eggs.

This time of year spinach can often be bought in the bulk as well as packed in bags. When buying the unpacked or bulk spinach, select clean looking bunches with crisp, glossy, dark green leaves. You will need about 2 pounds for 6 servings as allowance must be made for roots and heavy stems which are discarded in the preparation. Bagged spinach, on the other hand is already trimmed and therefore 1¼ pounds or two (10 ounce) bags will give 6 servings. There is much less sand in bagged spinach than in bulk spinach but both still need to be washed two or three times in cold water before using or cooking.

As it's time again for the "tossed greens" season and the appearance of the big wooden salad bowl, try to get away to a good start with a raw spinach salad. Here's a crisp idea for one from the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, using trimmed, washed and chilled spinach in combination with leaf lettuce. Tear the spinach and lettuce into bite-sized pieces to make 4 cups of each. Add ½ cup thinly sliced radishes, 2 tablespoons thinly sliced green onions and ¼ cup diced celery. Toss together in a big bowl with a blue cheese dressing and 5 slices of bacon which have been fried crisp, drained and crumbled. As an accompaniment to the main course at dinner or supper this salad gives 6 servings.

Although it is asparagus that usually starts off the home freezing season, spinach follows close behind. In the publication "Freezing Foods" from the Information Division, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, directions for freezing spinach say to select tender new leaves. Remove stems and sort out any discoloured or bruised leaves. Wash carefully, shake off extra water from leaves and blanch 2 minutes. Chill quickly by plunging into ice water. Drain well being careful not to mat the leaves. Pack, seal, label and freeze immediately.

Another way to use new green spinach is to team it up with eggs and a cheese sauce — call it Eggs Florentine and serve with a flourish for lunch! First, make a Cheese Sauce. Then cook the spinach until almost tender; drain well; chop rather fine and place in a buttered shallow baking dish. Make one depression per serving in the spinach. Break an egg into each of these hollows. Pour the cheese sauce over the top. Cover with buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven 350 degs. F. until crumbs are brown. Presto- Eggs Florentine — featuring spinach!

Cheese Sauce
For Six Servings

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
¼ to ½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon dry mustard (optional)
Few grains cayenne
1¼ cups milk
¾ to 1 cup grated cheese

Melt butter in top of double boiler, then blend in flour and seasonings. Gradually add milk, stirring until blended. Cook over direct heat, stirring constantly until sauce begins to thicken. Then place over hot water and continue cooking for 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add cheese and stir until melted. Makes about 1½ cups.

Cooking Comments

Do you find that hamburgers, steaks and chops stick to the broiler rack in the oven? Food experts at Macdonald Institute, Guelph, advise that broiler pans should be removed from the oven and the racks greased while the broiler area is heating. Place the meat on the cold racks and then pop into the oven.

Fresh lemon added to cooked food or vegetables when they are removed from the oven will enhance the flavour. The Food Department at Macdonald Institute reminds that in this fresh, uncooked form, the juice will replace some of the Vitamin C lessened or destroyed in cooking.

Hot soup for lunch! What a delicious way to start the afternoon. Remember that garnishes add flavour and colour. Try thin slices of onion or hard cooked grated egg yolk or white.

Left-over cheese may not be a problem, says the Food Department at Macdonald Institute, Guelph. Grate the cheese and store in a tightly covered jar in the refrigerator. Use a mixture of cheese in sauces or non-meat dishes.

COURAGEOUS HOUSEWIFE

At the Alberta Farmers' Union convention in Edmonton the other day, a delegate hit out at "turncoats" on the farm who might be using margarine. A farm housewife then stood up and admitted that she used margarine at times because she couldn't afford butter. She spoke against a motion to ban coloured margarine.

According to the Canadian Press story, she then "Sat down amid the stony silence of surrounding dairymen."

Silence there may have been. A stony silence — I doubt it. I know a few dairy farmers, and plenty of other farmers. They may not favour margarine, colored or uncolored, but they are not stony toward any man or woman with the intestinal fortitude to be straightforward. Fact is, I'd wager there were quite a number in that room who used margarine themselves and who had a good deal of respect for the little lady who up and said so.

Sure it is good business for dairy farmers to use their own products! No one has ever argued against that! It is good business for all Canadian to use Canadian products when ever they can. I can't blame dairy farmers for using and promoting butter for all they are worth — it is time they promoted it and advertised it and spent more time trying to sell it to the people instead of to governments.

But margarine is a good food product. It uses vegetable oils grown on farms. It is not a synthetic thing. It is recommended in Canada's Health Rules. To suggest that farm women who use it because they can't afford butter are being "turncoats" is pretty rough talk. The farm organization officials who have so conducted the dairy business that farm women turn to another product ought to be asking questions of themselves and their methods.

The farm organizations of Canada can use more little ladies of conviction who will get up at meetings and say what they think. Nothing could harm farmers more than a leadership clique which professes to find solutions for everything in the benevolence of governments. Nothing could do more damage than an atmosphere in which truth is met with stony silence.

Farmers, dairymen or otherwise, would do well to get this margarine ban off their backs. It has lost them friends and even made many bitter enemies. It hasnt' helped them, it has hurt them. The energy wasted in this ridiculous hassle should have been used to find ways and means of producing better butter at lower prices.

Time And Two Women

(by Ann Bowman)

It was all a matter of a point of view, she thought, as she prepared their Sunday morning coffee in the sunlit kitchen. It was ridiculous for Harry to be so obstinate about the matter. It made her angry and resentful.

When Harry sloped into the kitchen, his dressing gown wrapped loosely about him, his hair tousled, she took one look at his icy blue eyes and knew that he was as obstinate as he had been at bedtime the night before.

He poured a cup of coffee, shook out the weekly newspaper, buried himself behind it and waited silently for the pancakes.

The telephone rang, and Phyllis Brooks, her neighbour was on the line. "No," she told her, "Harry seems to think it is silly, and besides, it's the first day he's been able to get at the garden, and he wants to be free of the children." There was a pause, then she turned towards her husband. "Phyllis wants to talk to you," she said, cautiously.

He took the phone and bellowed his good morning into it. Then there was silence on his end, as his face grew angry and red. "It's really none of your business Phil," he said, "and I'd be grateful if you'd leave it to Peg and me. Personally, I think the whole thing is crazy. Just a stunt for a lot of neurotic women, that's about the size of it."

Later, while he gardened in the spring sunshine, she took the two small children into the little park, while most of the rest of the women in the little Ontario town attended the special "For Women Only" movie at the local theatre. She knew that their family doctor was going to be there to answer questions.

She didn't mind too much, except for a small private worry that nagged at the back of her mind, and about which she had not told anyone, except Phyllis. That was the reason, she knew, that her friend had been so anxious for her to see the Canadian Cancer Society film "Time and Two Women."

The following morning the two women had coffee together, and Phyllis spent some time in explaining to Peg the details of the film. "I'm going to have a smear taken right away," she said, "just to make sure."

When Harry arrived home that evening, Peg had something, at last, to tell him. It was no longer a nagging worry in her mind. She had made an appointment with her doctor. "And, I assure you," she said, "I am not being neurotic." Somewhat mollified, he offered to leave his printing plant early on that day and drive her to the appointment.

Phyllis' smear was negative. But that of Peg's was not. But they had caught it in the early stages, and, after a not too major or difficult operation, she would be perfectly well. "I hate to think," she confided in Phyllis, "what might have happened if I'd listened to Harry and not to you."

Two weeks afterwards, a Canadian Cancer Society volunteer canvasser called at the house. Harry opened the door, spread his wallet wide. "My wife might never have known — until it was too late," he said quietly, "if it hadn't been for one of your Cancer Society films being shown at our theatre.

He gave a large donation and pocketed his receipt. "As a matter of fact," he confessed, "I was actually against her seeing that film. But her neighbour went, thank God, and told her about it when she got back. I'm more than grateful, I can tell you, and please thank your Society, for having — probably — saved her life."

Beat The Bathroom Falls

Young or old, fragile or agile, we all run the risk of a fall at some time or other in the home. Slips and falls in the bathtub are all too frequent, and almost always have serious results — concussion, unconsciousness even drowning.

Elderly people especially are vulnerable, but no age is exempt. The Ontario Safety League suggests a good non-slip rubber mat in the tub, sturdy handrails to steady balance, and a non-skid bathmat on the floor are the best weapons to fight sudden slips.

When you think about it, no other room in the house holds such grave possibilities of injury as the tile-lined, furnished bathroom. Not only are falls more likely, but bumps and bruises which result are more often serious.

It's only common sense, then, and inexpensive too, to arm your family with the equipment that will ensure their safety.

THE BIBLE TODAY

In Britain's oldest Colony and Canada's youngest Province, the 150th Anniversary of the founding of the work of the Bible Society is being observed this year. Eight years after the formation of the British and Foreign Bible Society in London, England, there was established in Newfoundland, an Auxiliary of this Society dedicated to the oldest possible distribution of the Bible without note or comment.

Scriptures in Eskimo languages were translated many years ago and are still used in the far north. The New Testament was recently revised in Eskimo by a missions' superintendent, Rev. F. W. Peacock. This is widely used today by the inhabitants of Northern Labrador.

Replacement Bibles were given to families who lost their copies of the Scriptures in the forest fires that swept Newfoundland last summer.

To celebrate the 150th Anniversary of the Society on this Island Province, a Project Fund has been launched to provide $5,000 worth of Scriptures for Africa.

The President of the Newfoundland District of the Canadian Bible Society is the Hon. B. J. Abbott of St. Johns.

The Good Driver

Here are some "Highway Howlers" quoted by the Ontario Safety League from South African insurance claims:

I collided with a stationary tram coming the other way.

The accident was due to the other man narrowly missing me.

I told the other idiot what he was and went on.

I blew my horn but it would not work as it had been stolen.

If the other driver had stopped a few yards behind himself the accident would never have happened.

Boating Safety

The 1962 Boating Season is with us. Thousands of outboard powered boats will be on our waterways.

The Ontario Safety League states that observance of the Six Rules of Better Boating will bring confidence, safety and more enjoyment to your boating all summer long:

1. Make sure your boat, motor and all equipment is in seaworthy condition.

2. Use the right boat for your particular purpose — don't buy a canoe to cross the Atlantic.

3. Match your motor to your boat — don't' overpower or underpower — observe information on Recommendation Plate for maximum horsepower and Load. All owners of boats 16 feet and under with motors 10 horsepower or over will be required by law to have a Recommendation Plate attached to their boat.

4. Know and observe Government Regulations and Rules of the Road. If you are uncertain — write any organization dispensing this information.

5. Be sure your boat is properly equipped — Government Approved life jackets or cushions for each passenger, paddles or oars, bailing buckets or hand pump, anchor and line and fire extinguisher.

6. Always operate your boat in a common sense manner with care and courtesy toward all others on the water.

Warning -- Protection Ahead

There is one well-known traffic signal that is never likely to be described in official driving manuals. That is the flicking of headlights that many drivers use to advise others that there is a police radar speed check point ahead.

Helpfulness towards other road users is a very desirable attitude in drivers, the Ontario Safety League stresses. And enlightened police authorities make no effort to suppress this camaraderie that has saved many a speeding driver from a ticket.

But is there anything really commendable in shielding other drivers from deserved penalties for breaking the law? Is it good fellowship to band together to out-smart the police, in their work of trying to reduce the kind of driving that adds unnecessary danger to our streets and highways?

Is it a matter for praise, or self satisfaction, to encourage disrespect for the law, and the men who administer it? . . . to help other drivers evade the correction they merit, and knowingly risk? . . . to protect the operating permits of men who consistently abuse the privilege — one of whom, next week, may use his car to mutilate or kill?

We make traffic laws for our own protection. We appoint police officers to enforce those laws, to make the protection effective — and in Ontario there are thousands of police (though still, not enough) doing a fine job of intelligent enforcement, to the benefit of the great majority.

Our roads would be safer and pleasanter places to travel if more people believed in co-operating with authority, instead of dodging it. The mature driver realizes that we are fortunate to have police officers, cruisers and radar sets ahead.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

Furrow and Fallow By Fairbairn

The first swine herd in Ontario — or Canada — to be certified under any S.P.F. herd policy received recognition last week when the swine herd of Herb Arkell and Bruce Wamsley at Teeswater in Bruce County was certified under the Ontario Department of Agriculture Certified Herd Policy. This policy was established by the Provincial government two years ago to assist pure-bred hog breeders to establish herds that are free of Infectious Atrophic Rhinitis and Virus Pneumonia. These two diseases are prevalent in Ontario pigs, according to Livestock Commissioner, Dick Graham, and can cause substantial losses. Pigs cannot be immunized against either, nor can they be treated effectively, so the Certified Herd Policy was developed to provide farmers with a supply of pigs free from these specific diseases. Hence, the name S.P.F. was derived from the words Specific Pathogen Free, which means the pigs do not have specific diseases but are not necessarily free from all diseases.

Since the policy was established, research indicates that it will probably be impossible to certify herds that contain any non S.P.F. pigs — these diseases cannot be eliminated by careful sanitation and breeding alone. You must start with primary S.P.F. pigs taken from their dams surgically by caesarian or hysterectomy operations in an aseptic manner so that the diseases cannot be transmitted from the sow to the newborn pigs. The little pigs are kept in a disease-free laboratory for four weeks before being transferred to a farm that has not had any pigs on it for at least six weeks. All equipment and facilities for handling the pigs must be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected before they arrive, and special precautions taken by the farmer after their arrival to prevent diseases from getting into the herd.

Under the Ontario Policy, the farmer agrees to permit regular inspection by a provincial veterinarian and post mortem examination of all pigs sold for slaughter. In the year following enrollment, one-third of the pigs raised to market weight must be slaughtered and examined and must include at least two pigs from each litter. Any pig suspected of being infected with either disease must also be slaughtered and examined. After one year, if no trace of disease has been found by clinical and post mortem examination, the swine herd can be certified. Fifteen Ontario herds are now enrolled under the Certified Herd Policy.

Ontario milk producers shipping to manufacturing plants (powder, evaporated, cheese and condensed) can expect stricter enforcement of quality regulations soon. We hear the ODA is planning to extend the same quality standards to these shippers as those supplying the fluid market have. Milk can be rejected for objectionable flavour, excessive sediment and high bacterial count. Monthly samples of all manufacturing milk will go to regional laboratories starting immediately in some areas, and eventually the entire province will be covered.

Three consecutive tests showing milk of grade 4 quality will result in a producer being shut off for 15 days and we understand that steps will also be taken to prevent a producer changing plants after the first or second warning. This could be done by plants requiring a quality certificate before taking on new shippers. It looks as though the department is embarking on a concentrated programme to improve the overall quality of milk which should benefit everybody. Milk going to labs for testing will be subject to tests other than bacterial, such as the Gel test for Mastiis.

This would indicate that close attention by milk producers to feed or anything else that might cause off-flavours, careful cleaning of all equipment and udders, keeping an eye on filters and changing them frequently, and generally good sanitation procedures woud pay off.

WEED OF THE WEEK SERIES

WATER HEMLOCK

In cases of livestock casualties on pasture, along with bloat, hardware and poor marksmanship, don't overlook the possibility of poisonous plants. Particularly in spring and if the pasture includes some low, marshy ground, water hemlock just might be the cause. The Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture advises that water hemlock is the most poisonous of all Canadian plants, not only to livestock, but also to humans. The active poison, cicutoxin, is found throughout the plant, but in greatest concentration in the roots. Cattle tramping through the muddy edge of a swamp may crush some of these tubers — then they drink the water from the pool, producing fatal results without having eaten the plant at all. Or, as more frequently happens very early in spring, pasture is scarce so the whole plant may be eaten.

Symptoms of poisoning by water hemlock include frothing at the mouth, bloating, and intermittent convulsions. Since death may occur within two or three hours after poisoning, there is frequently no opportunity to observe these symptoms. But all wet, marshy places to which cattle have access should be searched for water hemlock.

This is a perennial, with fleshy, tuber-like roots somewhat resembling the root of the dahlia. Stems are hollow, and just above the roots, are divided by partitions of solid tissue. Leaves are composed of three leafets, coarsely toothed; mature leaving being for to twelve inches long. Flowers are white, small, and clustered around the top of the plant, however, these do not appear before June. In recognition in early spring it is necessary to observe root, stem ,and leaf, for the characteristics noted.

Water hemlock should be pulled out by the roots — it propagates by root as well as seed — and the plants destroyed. Swampy areas should be inspected, not only in the spring, but in midsummer, when the large plant and white flowers make it easier to find.

This species is native to Canada, it is not the poison hemlock by which Ancient Greeks disposed of political rivals. However, the original poison hemlock, Consium maculatum, has been introduced to Canada from Europe. Fortunately, this latter species is very uncommon in this country, has never become a threat to livestock.

A Spring Sown Lawn

For those people who did not get their new lawn started last summer, here are some suggestions from horticulturists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture on how to produce a good spring lawn.

The first factor to be considered is the top soil. If you want to end up with a good lawn, that will last over the years, you must make sure that you have a good depth of top soil to start with, preferably 5 to 6 inches deep. Without this, there is insufficient plant food to maintain a good stand, the grass becomes thin and weeds become a problem.

If you can get it, work some well rotted manure or organic matter such as leaf mould into the soil. You should also add some fertilizer, the amount and type depending on the soil. On a sandy soil use a 4-16-16 or 5-20-20, and on heavier soils such as loam or clay a 5-20-20 is best. You should apply this at the rate of 25 to 40 pounds per thousand square feet, and work into the soil.

Before sowing, try to get rid of bumps or low patches as they will cause problems later on. The hollows hold water and the bumps will dry out, both of which will affect the resulting lawn. While you are doing this, rake the surface to remove stones and large clods of earth. Your final seed bed needs to be fine and even.

When buying the seed, keep in mind that your lawn will be there for many years, and will be only as good as the seed that you start with. It is a poor investment to get a cheap seed mixture as there are likely to be weed seeds in it and the stand is liable to suffer. The additional cost of a good seed mixture at this stage, is money well spent.

While you can buy different grass seeds separately, it is usually best to get a prepared mixture. These will contain Kentucky bluegrass as the basic type, with additions of fescues and bents. When choosing your seed mixture, don't forget to choose a mixture adapted to your special requirements. They will vary slightly according to the soil or amount of shade you are likely to have, so discuss this with the salesman when you get your seed mixture.

The average sowing rate is 3 to 5 pounds per thousand square feet. To apply it evenly, get a seeder, divide your seed in half, and sow one half in one direction and the other half crosswise. This will ensure even distribution.

After sowing cover the seed lightly. The best way to do this is by gently raking the surface of the seed bed. When doing this, rake in one direction only, so that the even distribution of the seed is not spoiled. After covering the seed, roll it, to press any uncovered seed into the ground and firm the soil around the seed.

It is most important to keep the seed bed moist and not let it dry out. However, when watering be sure to use only a fine spray, or you are likely to wash the soil off the seed and may also wash the seed away.

The rate of germination will depend both on type of seed and on the weather. There are usually some quick-growing varieties in every mixture, and if conditions are good, some seedlings should appear in 8 or 9 days. If the weather is dry or cold, they may take longer.

Quack Grass Control

In an acre badly infested with quack grass, there may be 80 miles of white cord-like roots or rhizomes. These rhizomes are usually found in the top four to five inches of soil and every one or two inches of their length carries a bud.

Dr. C. D. Hay, a weed specialist, says three or four roto-tillings at three-week intervals controlled quack grass in Ottawa tests.

The roto-tiller is well suited to small areas free from large stones and can also be tractor-drawn to till large areas where erosion is not a problem.

The Ottawa tests were begun last August 1st and by late fall virtually all the buds had been killed.

In the first operation, the L-shaped blades loosened the soil and cut the rhizomes into sections three to six inches long. The second attack three weeks later destroyed the young shoots and cut the rhizomes into shorter pieces. Buds developed in the short pieces but after two more operations the number of visable buds was negligible.

It is important that operations continue until all buds are dead, says Dr. Hay. A heavier infestation may result from inadequate roto-tilling.

This type of cultivation will not control deep-rooted perennial weeds, he warns.

Cattle Face Fly Problem

Since 1958 the cattle face-fly has become well known to cattlemen in Ontario and more recently has caused much concern, say livestock specialists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture. On bright warm days in spring, these flies may be seen on cattle in the barnyards. The numbers remain small until late June when the increase is rapid and counts of 45 or more per head are not uncommon.

For beef cattle and dry or young dairy cattle, the livestock specialists recommend self-treatment by means of a "backrubber" device of some type. The location of the "backrubber" is important so that animals obtain adequate treatment. It should therefore be located in an area often frequented by the cattle, such as near salt or water supplies.

The insecticides used in "backrubbing" devices are usually oil-insecticide mixtures and are available from dealers selling the various types of "rubbers." Be sure to read the instructions on the label thoroughly, and carefully follow them as there may be restrictions for use on some classes of livestock.

CONSERVATION NEWS

BEAVER EXTENDING THEIR RANGE

The increase in beaver population has extended to a point where the animals are now well established in Prince Edward County and on islands in Lake Ontario and upper St. Lawrence River. Most of these animals are a source of nuisance. They chew down ornamental and shade trees at cottage sites and farm lawns along the water front. Hoop net fishermen complain about the beaver cutting their net stakes.

On Garden Island (near Wolfe Island) a resident complained that beaver were building in his boat house.

Some of these animals are being harvested and over 20 skins have been presented for sealing at Wellington.

GOOD WINTER FOR DEER HERDS

The past winter was not too hard on the deer in their yarding areas in the Tweed Forest District. There was some indication from snow depth records that the deer may have been confined for a short period in some areas. However, there has been no reports to date of any starvation in this district. An inspection survey will be carried out on representative yards shortly to check on various conditions such as, availability of food, browse conditions, amount of utilization and effects on the deer population.

Snow depth stations recorded a maximum snow depth of 25" to 28" but over a relatively much shorter time than which might constitute a critical period.

During the winter of 1960-61 snow depths did not build up to a critical peak at any time. We did, however, experience this situation during the winter of 1959-60 when snow on the ground was recorded from 20" to a marimum of 35" over a twelve week period.

How about the entrance to the lane? Can you see traffic approaching from either side without getting right out onto the road? If not, Hal Wright, Farm Safety Specialist with the Ontario Department of Agriculture says that it mightn't be a bad idea to clean out the bush and trim the trees so that it gives you good visibility.

Fiftieth Anniversary of Ladies' Organizations Observed At Carmel

On Sunday evening, May 27th, Carmel United Church was filled to capacity with an overfow in the Church Hall when Carmel United Church Women celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of their women's group known first as the Ladies' Aid. The Church and Hall were tastefully decorated with flowers in colours of white and yellow.

Rev. P. J. Hommersen was in charge of the service and welcomed the large gathering of visitors from neighbouring churches, former members of the women's organization and other friends.

The Scripture Lesson, Luke 5: 1-11, was read by Mrs. David Duffin, President of St. Paul's U.C.W. and prayer was offered by Mrs. Ross Hart, of Burnbrae, a former President of Carmel W.A.

Mrs. P. J. Hommersen introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. R. G. Nicholls, B.A., of Bloomfield, who chose as her subject, "Launch Out Into the Deep." Mrs. Nicholls is a graduate of Queen's University, Kingston, including theology. Her message was inspiring and challenging as she placed the task of the church before her listeners.

Mrs. Jack Armstrong, President of Carmel U.C.W. gave testimonial recognition of the work and devotion of all the women who had given of their time and talents to bring the organization to its fiftieth anniversary.

Life Membership Pins Presented

Mrs. R. H. Smithrim, of Trenton, Presbyterial President of the United Church Women, presented life memberships and pins to seven members in the U.C.W. She was assisted by Mrs. Charles Carter, of Burnbrae, a former President of Carmel W.A.

Wellman's Ladies' Choir Present

The music was provided by Wellman's Ladies' Choir with Mrs. Craig Watson as pianist and Mrs. Gerald Clancy as leader. Two anthems were rendered, "Closer to Thee," by Ethel Parker and "The Window of Prayer," by Richard Martins.

The final hymn, "Lead On, O King Eternal" and the benediction brought a successful service to a close.

Fellowship Hour

A fellowship hour was held in the Church Hall when a social cup of tea was served and many friends renewed acquaintances of former years.

Appreciation was expressed by the Rev. P. J. Hommersen to all who had helped to make the evening a success, including Mr. Sherwood Reid who had installed his public address system for the occasion.

The ushers were Mrs. Clayton Stapley, Mrs. Douglas Pyear, Mrs. Harold Johnston and Mrs. Vernon Harry.

Those receiving their life membership certificates and pins in the U.C.W. were Mrs. Joe Grills, Mrs. Lorne Brooks, Mrs. Arthur Couch and Mrs. Frank Keating, also Mrs. Lillie Morris, Mrs. Arthur Pyear and Mrs. Milton Hagerman who had been life members in the W.A.

Legionnaires Attend St. John's

On Sunday morning the Stirling Branch, No. 228, Royal Canadian Legion, held a Church Parade to St. John's Anglican Church.

The members assembled in front of the Community Hall at 10.45 a.m. for the "fall-in." The Parade was under the Command of Branch President Gilbert Finkle.

The Stirling-Rawdon Junior Band, under the direction of Mr. Maurice Bell, marched the parade to the Church.

The Colour Party was received by the Rector, the Rev. F. F. Downing, Branch Chaplain, and the flags deposited upon the Altar.

In his sermon, the Rector listed the qualities essential in the making of a soldier, pointing out that the same qualities of Courage, Endurance and Obedience were also the essential factors in Christian living. He based his remarks on the second verse of the third chapter of St. Paul's Second Epistle to Timothy; "Thou therefore endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ."

After the service the parade reassembled and Marched Past the Community War Memorial where the Salute was taken.

Church Meeting

"The Lily and the Thorn," was given by Mrs. Jack Weatherall.

Business Period

The business period was presided over by Mrs. George Noble, of St. John's, who gave the report of the previous meeting. A short discussion on the date of the next meeting followed with Mrs. David Duffin, President St. Paul's, extending an invitation to hold the next meeting at St. Paul's Church sometime this coming Fall. It was decided that in 1963 two meetings would be held — the World's Day of Prayer and one Fellowship meeting the latter half of the year.

Mrs. Keith Johnson and Mrs. Maurice Clancy gathered the offering which was dedicated with prayer by Mrs. Blanche Reid.

The speaker, Mrs. Bruce Stapley, gave a splendid paper prepared on "Fellowship." After the closing hymn Mrs. T. D. Dodds dismissed the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. Frank McGee on behalf of the visiting groups moved a vote of thanks to the Eggleton group with the response being given by Mrs. Warren Harlow, President of Eggleton U.C.W.

The host ladies served cookies and tea and all enjoyed a social half hour.

The two vases of lovely flowers placed in the Church by Mrs. Carl Bridges were presented to the two minister's wives present, Mrs. P. J. Hommersen of St. Paul's and Mrs. T. D. Dodds of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

TO OUR FARMERS

Here are a few Press Quotes by leading papers and magazines across Canada:

"All across Canada, in lush Western Ontario and poor Eastern Ontario, on other under-privileged farmlands, and especialy on the Praires, Alvin Hamilton is bringing new hope to the farmer."

—Standard Freeholder, September 30th, 1961

"Agriculture has never had a better friend in Ottawa than in the present government."

—Calgary Herald, July 25th, 1961

"It should be recognized that there have been a number of positive steps forward and several important breakthroughs in the field of farm policy in the past year.

"For some 15 years this idea of multilateral world food program has been talked about, but to little avail. Now it has excellent prospects of becoming a reality. It strikes us that it is more than just a coincidence this happened in Mr. Hamilton's first year as Minister.

"His willingness to act on any valid complaint or promising proposal, his boundless energy and enthusiasm, his sound philosophy and imaginative approach to the problems of today and tomorrow, are not only commendable characteristics, but provide hope for agriculture that has been sadly lacking in recent years. May his efforts in 1962 be as rewarding for agriculture as they have been in the year that is about to close."

—The Country Guide, December, 1961

"Mr. Hamilton has done a note-worthy job — possibly the best job done by a Canadian Minister of Agriculture in many years.

"There is very little reason to hope that either of the other political parties can supply a man for this particular job as the present minister."

—Family Herald, May 3rd, 1962

"We cannot help but admire a man who is willing to stake his reputation on giving advice on something that he feels will benefit his readers. It is a rather new role for a Minister of Agriculture to play, but then, we are coming to expect new things from this minister."

—Farmer's Advocate, September 23rd, 1961

"A more pleasing chore today is to pay tribute to Mr. Hamilton for the magnificent job he has done, in the short space of a year since he took over his present portfolio, in licking Canada's biggest farm problem. That problem, for many years past, has been the wheat surplus. It has been a nightmare to provinces and played havoc with our whole national economy. Today the situation has changed almost unbelievably."

—Charlotttetown Guardian, December 15th, 1962
